I.N.D.I.A bloc blacklists 14 television news anchors

PREETHA NAIR @ New Delhi

A day after announcing that the I.N.D.I.A bloc will boycott a section of TV journalists, the parties on Thursday released a negative list of 14 news anchors. It comprises usual suspects like Republic TV's Arnab Goswami, News18 Amish Devgan, Times Now's Navika Kumar, India Today Group's Gaurav Sawant, Shiv Aroor and Sudhir Chaudhary.

The decision to abstain from programmers or shows hosted by certain anchors was taken during the first meeting of the coordination committee on Wednesday. "The panel also authorised the sub-committee on media to decide upon the names of television news anchors on whose shows none of the INDIA parties will send their representatives," said AICC general secretary K C Venugopal after the meeting.

"Pursuant to the decision taken by I.N.D.I.A Coordination Committee in its meeting on September 13, 2023, the I.N.D.I.A parties will not send their representatives on the shows and events of the following anchors," said a statement from the media committee of the opposition bloc.

Taking to X, Pawan Khera, a member of the working group for media of the I.N.D.I.A alliance, said that the parties did not want to become a part of the hate filled narrative propagated by some TV channels. "We will not be part of the market of hate on some channels every day from 5 pm onwards. Our aim is to free the country from hatred," he said

"We are not opposed to any of the anchors," said the Congress leader, adding the decision was taken with a heavy heart. It was learnt that at Wednesday's meeting, the Congress and the AAP suggested a list of anchors whose shows should be boycotted.

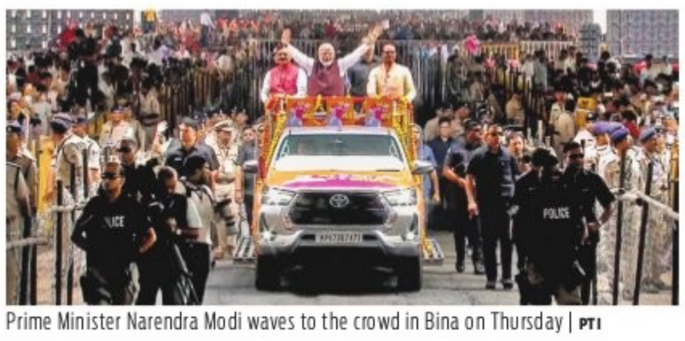
I.N.D.I.A grp's bid to destroy Sanatana: PM

Accuses Oppn of attempting to erase faith, push the country into 1,000 years of slavery

ANURAAG SINGH @ Bhopal

LAUNCHING a scathing attack on the Opposition I.N.D.I.A bloc over the recent anti-Sanatana Dharma remarks by DMK leaders, Prime Minister Narendra Modi on Thursday urged people to be wary of those who want to destroy their religion and culture.

This was Modi first public intervention in the raging debate on Sanatana Dharma ever since DMK leader Udhayanidhi Stalin likened it to dengue and malaria, adding it had to be eradicated. Terming the Opposition's alliance as a Ghamandiya Gathbandhan (proud alliance), Modi said, "While on the one hand our country is emerging as vishwa mitra (global friend) and showing the strength to integrated the entire world, on the other hand some political parties are engaged in disintegrating the country and its society."



Prime Minister Narendra Modi waves to the crowd in Bina on Thursday | PTI

The Opposition alliance, he alleged, intends to destroy the hoary culture and traditions that integrated the country for thousands of years. Modi was addressing a public meeting after laying the foundation for industrial projects worth around ₹51,000 crore in Bina town of poll-bound Madhya Pradesh's Sagar district.

"The Sanatana inspired Devi Ahilya Bai Holkar, queen of Jhansi Laxmi Bai, Mahatma Gandhi, Lokmanya Tilak and Swami Vivekananda. Now the Ghamandiya alliance wants to eradicate the same Sanatana... and push the country back into slavery of thousand years again," Modi alleged.

Earlier, Modi rode an open jeep with Chief Minister Shivraj Singh Chouhan on board to greet the people at the venue.

In its pushback, the Congress accused the PM of using an occasion of a government function to insult the Opposition. "The PM is back to doing what he does best—insult. He repeated his abuse of I.N.D.I.A parties as so-called Ghamandia parties," said Congress leader Jairam Ramesh.

195 taluks drought-hit, North Karnataka is worst-affected: Govt

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

THE state government on Thursday officially declared 195 out of 237 taluks in Karnataka as drought-hit. While 161 taluks are found to be severely drought-hit, 34 will come under drought-hit taluks for next six months.

Chief Minister Siddaramaiah on Thursday said the state government will now submit a memorandum to the Centre seeking funds for drought relief.

The declaration of 195 taluks as drought-hit was based on surveys and reports in these taluks, he said. The guidelines to the Deputy Commissioners for taking up drought relief works will be issued as per the National Disaster Response Fund (NDRF) and State Disaster Response Fund (SDRF) norms.

The revenue department issued a Government Order late Wednesday night, which stated that drought declaration was done based on the DCs' reports after completing ground-truth-finding surveys. Of the 195 taluks declared as drought-hit, a majority are in North Karnataka, with Belagavi having the highest at 13, followed by Vijayapura (12), and Kalaburagi (11). Also, there are a good number of taluks from the Old Mysuru region and Central Karnataka. Among the lowest are Udupi and Dakshina Kannada districts with two each, and Bidar and Chamarajanagar with three each. P4

IS terror accused arrives from Kenya, arrested

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Delhi/Shivamogga

SHIVAMOGGA-based IS terror accused Arafath Ali was nabbed by National Investigation Agency (NIA) at Delhi airport on his arrival from Nairobi, Kenya, on Thursday.

An NIA press release said Ali was taken into custody when he landed at Delhi airport. It was a major breakthrough for the agency to unearth and foil the conspiracy of foreign-based modules of IS (Islamic State of Iraq and the Levant) to carry out acts of terror in India. Since 2020, Ali had been absconding and was accused of indulging in IS propaganda and planning terrorist acts. He had since been operating from abroad to promote IS' anti-India terror agenda. NIA investigations revealed that Ali, a resident of Shivamogga district, was actively involved in the identification, radicalisation and recruitment of gullible Muslim youth into the IS fold, while working from abroad, the release said.

As part of the Shivamogga terror conspiracy case, accused Mohamed Shariq had been looking for ways to plant a pressure cooker IED at Kadri Manjunatha temple in Mangaluru, when the IED exploded accidentally in an autorickshaw. Ali had been in touch with the other accused in the case and was actively involved in planning and executing the conspiracy.

According to NIA, Ali was also responsible for the Mangaluru graffiti cases of 2020, when on his directions, two other accused Mohamed Shariq and Maaz Muneer Ahmed had written, 'Don't force us to invite Lashkar-e-Taiba and Taliban to deal with Sanghis and Manuvadis' and '#Lashkar Zindabad' on the walls.

SP Mithunkumar stated, "Arafath Ali hails from Thirthahalli taluk of Shivamogga district and left his hometown more than three years ago."

Sources said Ali's name was linked to the IED pressure cooker blast in Mangaluru, and cases were registered against him with Mangaluru and Bengaluru police.

NIA RAIDS SUSPECT'S HOUSE IN YADGIR DIST

FINDERS CAN'T BE KEEPERS

PRAVEEN KUMAR @ Bengaluru

A 25-year-old credit card facilities manager at a private bank in Nagarbhavi, S Varun Gowda, has learnt the hard way that finders cannot always be keepers. Instead, following the 'finders-keepers' belief has landed him in Parappana Agrahara Central Prison. It took six days for him to learn that lesson.

On the morning of September 6, Varun found a carton with cash of Rs 94 lakh in denominations of Rs 500 on his scooter seat outside his bank, and believing it to be an act of Providence giving him such a huge fortune, took it home. Overwhelmed by the sudden wealth in his possession, he even made an initial advance of Rs 5,000 to buy a second-hand SUV, despite his mother insisting that he report his find to the police.

On the night of September 12, Chandra Layout police were at his doorstep, having checked about 300 pieces of footage from CCTV cameras near Varun's bank in Nagarbhavi till his residence in Kalappa Block in Girinagar. On confessing that he had brought the carton filled with Rs 94 lakh in cash home, he was arrested and booked for theft under Section 379 of the Indian Penal Code.

The Chandra Layout police said that at about 11.45 am on September 6, when Varun left his bank for an errand, he found the carton filled with cash on his scooter seat. A few moments earlier, 28-year-old businessman Pramod Swamy had left his residence opposite the bank, carrying the carton with the cash to take it to a friend's office and then to a legal consultant.

Pramod and his air-hostess wife had planned to buy a site, and the money was part of the transaction. As he reached his car parked outside his house, he decided to check on the documents and absentmindedly placed the carton on the seat of the nearest two-wheeler, which happened to be Varun's. After checking the documents, Pramod sat in his car and then drove away, leaving the carton with the cash behind. P3

COMBATING FAKE NEWS

Govt rolls out norms for fact-check unit

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

THE state government on Thursday announced the framework for a fact-checking unit, which is proposed to be set up to tackle fake news and misinformation. In cases of misinformation, disinformation and malinformation (MDM), the government will initiate legal action under the provisions of the Information Technology Act, IPC, or Disaster Management Act, 2005.

IT-BT Minister Priyank Kharge said the exercise will never be personal or political, but purely in public interest. "We are not here to control or regulate anybody. We have no intention to curtail freedom of speech of any individuals or press," Kharge clarified, substantiating the government's move to set up the fact-checking unit by referring to a statement of the Chief Justice of India and a social media post from the Prime Minister's Office, which stressed the need to tackle MDM.

Further, Kharge alleged that a few political parties and organisations were exploiting social media to spread misinformation for their gains. "It is essential to reduce the effect of fake news and misinformation on society," he added.

Stating that the fact-checking unit would be made functional very soon, the minister shared the details of the proposed composition of the fact-checking unit, which comprises an Oversight Committee, Review Single Point of Contact (SPOC), and Nodal Officers.

Noting that there would be complete transparency in the process, the minister said there would be a set of guiding principles which include being apolitical and unbiased. "Fact-checking will be run on content in Kannada, English and other regional languages. The teams will rely on primary sources available and disclose all sources referred," he said. P5

Survey ranks IIM-B course first in India

ENS @Bengaluru

THE Indian Institute of Management-Bangalore has been ranked first in India and fourth in Asia-Pacific region for one of its courses, in the Bloomberg Best Business Schools Survey 2023.

The institute's one-year full-time Executive Post Graduate Programme in Management (EPGP) for experienced professionals bagged the first rank in the country for the second consecutive year. Every year, Bloomberg surveys over 100 MBA programmes around the world. The rankings are generated through data from over 18,000 students, alumni and recruiter surveys as well as income and employment information from each school and their alumni. The best business schools this year were categorises into four regions: Europe, Asia-Pacific, Canada and the United States. IIMB's course performed well on parameters of learning (86.6), networking (83) and entrepreneurship (79). The programme received an overall score of 69.3% in 2023 compared to 66.4% last year.

LONGER WAIT FOR CAUVERY STAGE V SUPPLY

Project likely to get commissioned only in first quarter of next year

S LALITHA @Bengaluru

THE Rs 5,500-crore ambitious Cauvery Water Supply Stage V project, which is scheduled to supply drinking water to 110 villages spread across 225 sq km in the peripheral areas of the city, is likely to be commissioned only by February or March 2024. The latest deadline given by the Bangalore Water Supply and Sewerage Board was December 2023.

The Covid-19 pandemic had resulted in an acute shortage of labour and industrial oxygen, and the project was given a six-month extension by the state over its July 2023 deadline like all other projects.

We have completed 80% of the project. Our contractors and water board officials are going all out to meet the December deadline by working 24x7, but some issues are beyond our control,â said a senior official.

The long stand-off between Ukraine and Russia severely disrupted the supply chain, heavy rains flooded the project site, the overflowing of Bheema river and the Turkey crisis have left their impact. As the cascading effect, we are still struggling,the official added.

Out of the total project cost, the Japan International Co-operation Agency is funding 84%, while the BWSSB and the State Government are funding 8% of the cost.

When commissioned, 775 million litres of water per day will be provided to the villages in Mahadevapura, Rajarajeshwari Nagar, Bommanahalli, Dasarahalli, Yelahanka, K R Puram and Byatarayanapura. Ten trillion million cubic metres of water has already been sanctioned a decade ago to assure supply for it.

âCurrently, we are supplying water once a week or twice a week to 55 villages out of 110 in these areas. All of them will get regular water when we commission it,â a source said.

Project features

Nine Ground Level Reservoirs (GLRs) to store the water are being built. One each will come up along the water supply route of Torekadanahalli (TK Halli) Harohalli, and Tataguni that will also have new pumping stations. The other six GLRs are being built at Gottigere, Doddakanahalli, Kadugodi, SMV Layout VIth Block, Lingaveeranahalli and Singapura, said another senior official.

Healthy B'luru initative gets 11k responses

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE Brand Bengaluru initiative for improving healthcare facilities has received 11,000 suggestions in a month for working towards the betterment of the city's health.

With climate change causing rapid surge in dengue cases, along with the recent Nipah virus outbreak in Kerala, experts have highlighted the need to focus on the 'One Health Initiative' with preventive strategies collectively focusing on human-related diseases, zoonotic diseases along with environmental factors.

Dr Ramesh Krishna K, Dean and Director, Bangalore Medical College and Research Institute (BMCRI), suggested to improve the facilities in public health centres (PHC) and namma clinics to reduce the pressure on secondary and tertiary care hospitals. These centres often get burdened while dealing with basic illnesses which can be managed at the primary level. He was speaking at the panel discussion organised by the Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP), the nodal agency for the "Healthy Bengaluru" initiative of Brand Bengaluru, at Victoria Hospital on Thursday.

BBMP along with AI and Robotics Technology Park (ARTPARK) at Indian Institute of Science (IISC) are strategising on building war rooms with enhanced surveillance systems while focusing on a one health approach.

Most suggestions focused on improving emergency care services, veterinary care services and overall healthcare by integrating technology and improving surveillance systems for early intervention of diseases. BBMP Special Commissioner (for Health), Dr KV Thrilok Chandra also stressed the need to identify emerging threats with digital surveillance system and a better referral system for reducing cost of healthcare. Citing examples of countries like Singapore, Canada or even the US, Dr Thrilok said that Indian citizens need to be educated better about handling emergency situations.

Preventive healthcare is the only way to reduce the burden of non-communicable diseases, doctors said. Hence, investing in facilitating PHCs and namma clinics with laboratories to conduct diagnosis, and minor operation theatres to handle minor cases will help in early intervention and reduce referral percentage to other hospitals, they added.

LEARN MED

App launched for MBBS students

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

MANIPAL Global Education Services (MaGE) on Thursday launched a new app -- Manipal MedAce -- to help MBBS students supplement their learning and medical aspirants prepare for entrance tests.

The annual subscription-based app, available in mobile and cloud-first formats, offers comprehensive and self-curated learning for all students at an affordable cost. It has bite-sized learning modules, and students can customise their learning by choosing three subject matters at a time. Students can access live tutoring, an online dissection lab, 3D interactive learning and assessment, quizzes and animation among others.

Medical aspirants preparing for NEET PG, NeXT and other entrance tests, the app offers personalised study plans, question banks, custom-based test flashcards and workbooks. One can also opt for doubt-solving with subject matter experts. Currently, Manipal is onboarding various colleges to reach all aspiring medical students.

Talking about the app, Ravi Panchanadan, Managing Director and CEO, MaGE, said, "With MedAce, we have combined 60 years of our expertise in 15 months to deliver top-tier medical content using the latest digital technology, making learning easy from anywhere."

The app follows the Competency-based Medical Education (CBME) curriculum and will be updated on a timely basis with strong investments in technology and Artificial Intelligence.

On Democracy Day, pledge to take part in polls, make netas accountable

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

WITH September 15 being observed as International Day of Democracy, political pundits, members of NGOs and ward committees called upon people not to treat the day as an one-off affair. People should make it a point to participate in elections and engage in governance works on a daily basis, they said. The day was proclaimed by the United Nations General Assembly in 2007.

During a seminar -- Daily Democracy -- Prof Gooru Sreeramulu, Chairman, Department of Political Science, and Dean, Faculty of Social Sciences, Gulbarga University, stressed on the importance of understanding the essence of democracy. "A democratic country has a system of government in which people have the power to participate in decision-making and hold decision- makers accountable. We have to understand that democracy enhances the quality of decision-making and also gives dignity to citizens through active participation in governance," he said.

Noting that democracy is also not just about celebrating Independence Day and Republic Day, or voting once in five years, Santosh Nargund, head of Civic Participation, Janaagraha, said it is a continuous process by which citizens actively engage with officials and elected representatives and participate in governance of the city and country.

Preparations on in full swing on the premises of Vidhana Soudha on the eve of the 'International Day of Democracy' in Bengaluru on Thursday | NAGARAJA GADEKAL

"Active citizenship is about finding and acting upon local solutions for global problems such as environmental sustainability and climate change as well as important aspects of governance such as public health, civic infrastructure and services, which contribute to improving the quality of life in our cities, towns and villages," said Nargund.

Dr Sharada B Patil, Assistant Professor, KLE Society's Gurusiddappa Kotambri Law College, Hubballi, said, "Democracy is everybody's responsibility. We, the people of India, have adopted the supreme law, namely the constitution, under which the government elected by us should function to achieve the goals of justice, liberty, equality and fraternity. We must work towards that goal daily so that our representatives also work in the same way."

Int'l Day of Democracy: Traffic advisory issued

As the International Democracy Day programme will be held at Vidhana Soudha, the Bengaluru city traffic police has issued a traffic advisory, making traffic arrangements on Friday, from 9.30 am to 1 pm. Parking areas have been designated for people - Palace Ground (for buses and other LGV vehicles), Kanteerava Stadium, Nehru Taralaya (planetarium) and M S Building. Vehicles will not be permitted from KR Circle towards Gopala Gowda Circle. Similarly, vehicles from Balekundri Circle will not be allowed to proceed towards KR Circle. To manage the flow of vehicles, vehicles coming from KR Circle will be redirected to Nrupathunga Road and vehicles from Balekundri Circle towards Queens Circle. Vehicles from CTO Circle will be allowed to continue towards Raj Bhavan Road.

KEA extends mop-up round for UG-NEET

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE Karnataka Examination Authority (KEA) on Thursday announced that candidates who have already been allotted medical undergraduate seats can also participate in the medical mop-up round along with the unallotted candidates.

S Ramya, Executive Director, KEA stated that the decision has been taken in consideration of 482 'P' (Private) seats and 37 'G' (Government) undergraduate medical seats being vacant due to non-payment of fees. Students who have been allotted medical seats and reported to the colleges in the first two rounds of UG NEET-2023 and candidates who have been allotted seats in UG NEET-2023, but have not paid fees or reported to the colleges can participate in the mop-up.

If a student is allotted a seat in the mop-up round, it will be final and the earlier allotted seat will be cancelled, according to KEA. All candidates interested in participating in the mop-up round will have to pay a caution deposit.

Daily Starscope

PETER VIDAL

15th September: I was having a conversation the other day about whether the Moon's gravity has a role in astrology. The fact is that it doesn't seem to. Rather it's the Moon's electromagnetic field which may affect us; after all, seen from one perspective, our bodies consist entirely of electrical charges.

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
Over-indulgence always offers a way out of tricky emotional problems. Some people may approve, some may not, but this is not the point. The only consideration now is whether it is the right time to face certain pressing personal issues. Only you can decide that.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 - May 21)
Lunar alignments focus on work early on, but then begin to shift towards personal and social matters. If, by any chance, you can fix up a delayed engagement today, that would be as well. It looks very much as if you will be able to get the better of a rival, by the way.

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21)
You may be a little tired and tense, but that is no surprise. Your energy should already be reviving, and within about five or six days you should feel a whole lot better. There's only a few more days to wait for a promised invitation, so please be patient!

CANCER (June 22 - July 23)
Everything should now have come to the boil, both at home and at work. With any luck you will now be able to see your way for-ward much more clearly - and you will soon be in a position to deal wonderfully with all those little irritating, niggling developments.

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23)
Don't fret over what looks like a setback. After all, liabilities have a pleasant way of turning out to be assets. If a loved one seems to have no time for you, be patient and wait for them to get over the current, tricky phase; if they need anything, they need your understanding.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
Hidden tensions rise to the surface and may popupin themost unlikely settings. As so often happens, money may be the catalyst for a frank exchange of views, but I doubt if you'll fully understand how you got where you are. If you really can't work out what a partner is up to, perhaps you should leave them to it!

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
Although there are many awkward factors to deal with, something in the sky is indicating that the answer lies within, rather than without. In other words, a change of attitude or opinion may do the trick. But, in the long run, you also have to put your plans into effect - nobody else will.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
I know you have misgivings about the long-term future, but you should be able to appreciate certain short-term benefits. The Moon will enter a new position very soon, endowing you with greater emotional strength, indicating a renewed determination to succeed.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
What's most important now seems to be the link between you and a whole range of other people. From out of your current social network will emerge the saviours of the future, so be nice to people in the knowledge you'll have need of them soon - very soon indeed!

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
As life is starting to go right in one area, you may be let down in another. This is a result of the mysterious magic wrought by that magnificent trio of cosmic giants, Jupiter, Uranus and Neptune. That's a combination which really gets your imagination going!

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
It will be difficult to convince you that some kind of a temporary break or separation is for the best. Yet you must eventually see that if one connection comes to an end, another will arise. Partners have the edge today, so you may have to graciously take second place.

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
There are still likely to be some areas of disagreement or discontent both at home and at work. If by any chance you can bring about a reconciliation in one special and particular relationship, do so now. You might also be called upon to take the lead in a creative enterprise, so be prepared!

Insurance firm to pay accident victim's family ₹2.25 cr relief

Insurer has to pay the compensation in two months or pay interest

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Madikeri

AN insurance company has agreed to pay the family of a man killed in 2017 in a road accident in Kodagu district a compensation of Rs 2.25 crore in two months at the Lok Adalat in Madikeri.

Achal Bopanna (34), a resident of Kodagu, was a captain with Hong Kong's Anglo-Eastern Ship Management.

In December 2017, a pickup driven by one Aiyappa rammed Achal, who was riding a bike, on the Madikeri-Virajpet road. Achal suffered serious injuries and succumbed at the District Hospital in Madikeri.

Achal's mother, Anila AG, and his wife, Spoorthy filed separate cases, demanding compensation from the respondents — Aiyappa and the vehicle's insurance company, Cholamandalam General Insurance Company.

The District Sessions Court in Madikeri began hearing the case in 2018 and the proceedings were finalised at the Lok Adalat this September 9. The bench suggested that the two cases for compensation be combined. Anila and Spoorthy, who were represented by advocates BB Anand and Ratan Thammaiah, demanded Rs 3 crore compensation.

Judge Prashanth G ordered that the Cholamandalam General Insurance Company pay a compensation of Rs 2.25 crore to the family. "It is a rare case. Since Achal earned a monthly salary of up to Rs 4 lakh, the compensation was calculated for the remaining of his service years," said BD Dayananda, who represented the insurance company in the case. If the insurer fails to pay the compensation in two months, they would have to pay an interest.

20-yr-old college student attempts suicide, jumps off Ramadevara Betta

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

A 20-year-old final year degree student of a deemed university attempted suicide by jumping from Ramadevara Betta, in Ramanagara, on Wednesday.

The student, pursuing BSc in Psychology Honours, was reportedly stuck on a tree. The watcher of Ramadevara Betta, who witnessed the incident, immediately called police. Two locals rescued the victim before she fell off the tree. She was rushed to a government hospital, and later shifted to a private hospital in the city. She is said to be out of danger.

The student's father told TNIE that his daughter had anxiety issues and was in extreme stress since the past one week.

The student is a resident of RR Nagar. She had gone alone to Ramadevara Betta on Wednesday afternoon on a scooter. Police received information around 5pm. "The victim had parked the scooter at a distance. She left her college bag containing her college ID and other documents. In the evening, her father came to the spot. She was first shifted to the government hospital in Ramanagara and from there to a private hospital in the city. She is said to be under depression. We don't know what led to it," said the jurisdictional Ramanagara Rural police.

The girl's father told The New Indian Express that she has a hairline fracture on her skull. "My daughter is able to speak. She will be in hospital for two more days. Around five months ago, we had gone to Ramadevara Betta to see the film Sholay's shooting spot. When she didn't answer our calls, her phone was traced to Ramanagara. I went there and saw policemen shifting her to hospital. On Wednesday morning, she went to her friend's house for a project, and from there, she went to Ramadevara Betta," he added.

ED seizes over Rs 6cr in assets, crypto in job fraud case

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THE Enforcement Directorate (ED) has attached movable assets of Rs 6.47 crore, including Rs 71.3 lakh in the form of crypto currency, under the Prevention of Money Laundering Act (PMLA), 2002, in connection with the China-linked part-time job fraud case.

In an official release on Thursday, the agency named the six companies whose assets were attached under the money laundering Act. These are: Toningworld International Pvt Ltd, Ansol Technology Pvt Ltd, Redraccoon Services India Pvt Ltd, Energico Digital Pvt Ltd, Bridge Tera Technologies Pvt Ltd and Ashenfallous Technologies Pvt Ltd as well as nine individuals. "The money collected through the scam was routed from the bank accounts of these companies/individuals and converted into crypto currency and later transferred to China-based crypto exchanges," the central agency stated.

The ED initiated the investigation on the basis of an FIR registered by South Cyber, Economic & Narcotics (CEN) police station, Bengaluru.

The investigation revealed that some "gullible youth were cheated by certain Chinese persons through a mobile app - Keepsharer - through which they collected money under the pretext of offering them part-time jobs. These Chinese persons formed companies in India and recruited many Indians as directors, translators, human resource managers and tele-callers," the agency stated.

"Keepsharer was linked with an investment app. The accused collected money from the public in the name of investment through this app. The youth were given the task of liking the videos of celebrities and uploading them on social media. On completion of task, Rs 20 per video was credited in the Keepsharer wallet. Later on, they removed the app from the playstore," the ED added.

Earlier, the ED had conducted search operations on the 12 entities involved in this case and had seized Rs 5.85 crore under Section 17 of the PMLA.

HC: Don't invoke 'breach of peace' law in marital row

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

NOTING that it has become a habit to invoke IPC Section 504 (intentional insult to breach of peace) and 506 (criminal intimidation) for every offence in a dispute between husband and wife, and even for trivial issues, the Karnataka High Court said investigating officers should exercise caution while laying down provisions as offences punishable with two years in jail.

The court said the dispute was between husband and wife, and breach of public peace cannot be imagined. "The other provision is Section 506 which deals with punishment for criminal intimidation. Facts would indicate that the dispute is a trivial squabble which erupted between husband and wife. Section 506 is also loosely laid against the petitioner," said Justice M Nagaprasanna, quashing proceedings against the husband.

The court said the offences are punishable with two years imprisonment, therefore, "it cannot be a frolicsome act on the part of the investigating officer to simply bring in Sections 504 or 506".

The dispute arose between Vivekananda from Bagalkot and his wife over a trivial issue. His wife asked for money to bring certain materials to perform a puja, which was not acceptable to the husband, and led to a quarrel between them, resulting in registration of a complaint against all the family members.

Police conducted an investigation and dropped all members of the family from the list of accused, but retained the husband as the sole accused for the offence under Sections 498A, 504 and 506 IPC. The court said nowhere were the offences punishable under the provisions indicated in the complaint or chargesheet, quashing proceedings against the husband.

DCP: Money recovered from banker's house

PRAMOD remembered the carton en route to his friend's office and returned, only to find the scooter on which he had kept the carton gone. He immediately rushed to file a complaint with the Chandra Layout police.

S Girish, DCP, West, confirmed to TNIE: "We managed to trace the accused's scooter parked outside his house in Girinagar. He was arrested on Tuesday night. The money was recovered from his house."

An investigating official said, "Although the accused is not at fault, he is still technically at fault for taking the money home. The accused should have approached the police on finding it."

SIDDU WARNS OF STRICT ACTION AGAINST TAX EVASION IN K'TAKA

CM says if more taxes are collected, more development works can be implemented

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

CHIEF Minister Siddaramaiah on Thursday instructed the Commercial Tax Officers to take strict action against tax evaders in cases of tax evasion, tax leakage and tax pilferage in the state. He also instructed the officials of the Excise Department to prevent smuggling of illicit liquor into the state and focus on recovering tax arrears and achieve the target set in tax collection. He was speaking at the review meeting of the Commercial Tax Department in Bengaluru on Tuesday.

He said that the growth rate of tax collection by the State Commercial Tax Department is 19.2%, which is higher than the country's average of 15%. This year, the government has set a target of 24%.

Chief Minister Siddaramaiah chairs a review meeting with senior officials in Bengaluru on Thursday | EXPRESS

According to the CM, the state's share in the total tax collection of the country is 9.4%. He also said that the officials should detect more and more tax evasion cases which will help them to exceed the tax collection target.

He said that the department should pay more attention to prevent tax evasion by intensive enforcement.

"Your efforts can bring more tax to the state. Be attentive and collect tax. If more taxes are collected, more development works can be undertaken. We should work with collective responsibility", the CM added.

While addressing the Excise Department officials, the CM directed the officials to curb illegal liquor, work towards preventing smuggling of illegal liquor, recover tax arrears and achieve the set target in tax collection. He said the enforcement agencies should keep a close watch on illegal liquor movement in the border areas, especially from Goa. The production and sale of illegal liquor adversely affects the income and health of the poor, Siddaramaiah added.

He directed all the deputy commissioners to give priority to increase revenue collection.

DKS seeks review of CWRC decision

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

DEPUTY Chief Minister DK Shivakumar, who also holds the water resources portfolio, on Thursday appealed to Union Jal Shakti Minister Gajendra Singh Shekhawat to ask the Cauvery Water Management Authority (CWMA) to consider Karnataka's pleadings and review the decision of Cauvery Water Regulation Committee (CWRC). The CWRC has directed the state to release 5000 cusecs each day to Tamil Nadu for 15 days.

Shivakumar met Shekhawat during an international conference on Dam Safety in Jaipur and handed over Chief Minister Siddaramaiah's letter to him.

DyCM DK Shivakumar submits a letter on behalf of the CM to Jal Shakti Minister Gajendra Singh Shekhawat

The decision of the CWRC needing Kamataka to release water from KRS and Kabini, put together, so as to realise 5000 cusecs at Biligundlu for the next 15 days cannot be practically implemented without endangering the interests of the farmers for irrigation and human and livestock depending upon the Cauvery River system for drinking water, the CM stated in the letter. The CM requested the minister to ask the CWMA to consider the pleadings of Karnataka and to review the decision of CWRC which has directed Karnataka to release 5000 cusecs for the next 15 days so that Karnataka is relieved of the burden and to safeguard the interests of the farmers and people in the drought-affected year.

Opposition BJP and JDS leaders have urged the Karnataka government not to release water to Tamil Nadu and protect the interests of the state farmers.

K'taka recorded lowest rainfall in 125 years

THE GO stated that the South West Monsoon entered Karnataka on June 8, and after 14 days, it spread across the state. In June, the state recorded 56 per cent less rainfall than normal. Although the state received more rain in July, August saw a deficit of 73 per cent. This rainfall record is the lowest in the last 125 years.

From June 1 to September 2, 512 mm rain was recorded, as against the normal of 701 mm, a deficit of 27 per cent.

However, as per the drought parameters, there should be more than 60 per cent rain deficit and three weeks of dry spell on the trot. As per these guidelines, the state government finalised the list of 195 drought-hit taluks

Efforts on to end graft by going paperless, says Byre Gowda

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Hubballi

CONCEDING that rampant corruption prevails in the revenue department, Revenue Minister Krishna Byre Gowda on Thursday said efforts are on to weed out corruption by going paperless.

Gowda said that the previous BJP government did not take enough initiative to implement the e-file concept. But he assured that the Congress government would be enforcing it to ensure hassle-free service to the public. He said in his office, most of the files are cleared online.

The deputy commissioners, assistant commissioners, and tahsildars have been instructed to send every file to Bengaluru online, he said but admitted that people still have a lot of grievances. Though there is a delay in disposing of cases related to dispute properties, he said most of the applications under Sakaala have been addressed.

There were around 180 pending files related to disciplinary action against officials and most of them have been disposed of after taking action against the guilty, he said.

The minister said that there is a plan to honour officers based on their performances.

Earlier, Gowda visited the deputy tahsildar's office at Dummavada village and Hirehonnalli village of Kalaghatagi taluk and assessed the staff performance and public services. He also undertook a surprise visit to the Hubballi tahsildar's office, gathered information on how various sections were functioning, and directed the official to adopt the e-file system.

A team of National Investigation Agency (NIA) from Ranchi raided the house of one Khalid Ahmed (22) in Shahapur town of Yadgir district on Thursday morning on suspicion of his links with suspected ISIS terrorist Faizan who was arrested by the Ranchi police in July.

A senior police officer in Yadgir told TNIE that the NIA team raided the residence of Khalid situated at Guttipet of Shahapur town at 4am. The officials interrogated Khalid and his father till 10 am. It is alleged that Khalid was in touch with Faizan through Instagram. The NIA team led by Sachidananda Sharma has seized 2 mobile phones, photo copies of Aadhaar card, ration card and PAN card from Khalid.

According to sources, the NIA team has asked Khalid to appear before the NIA officials in Ranchi on September 20 for further inquiry.

Speaking to the media later, Khalid confirmed that he was interrogated by the NIA team and has been asked to appear before it in its Ranchi office on September 20. Khalid said that he contacted Faizan only once without knowing that he was associated with the terror outfit. Khalid is working in a garage at Shahapur.

Bommai: BJP not linked to Chaitra, probe needed

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Mangaluru

DEMANDING a thorough investigation and stringent punishment for right-wing activist Chaitra Kundapura who was arrested on Wednesday on charges of cheating a businessman by promising a BJP ticket, former chief minister Basavaraj Bommai on Thursday denied BJP links with the right-wing activist.

Anyone involved in the case, however big, should be arrested, the former chief minister said. Bommai said that BJP will take action against those misusing the party's name.

Basavaraj Bommai

On Cauvery row, Bommai said that the State Government should stick to its affidavit that no additional water would be released to Tamil Nadu, and warned that the BJP will take to the streets if Karnataka's interests are compromised. "As per the tribunal order, Tamil Nadu should have cultivated Kuruvai crops on 1.8 lakh hectares. But they did it on over 4 lakh hectares and also released water. In the future, the farmers in the Cauvery basin and people in Bengaluru will suffer," Bommai said, adding that the Karnataka government is not ready to talk to TN Chief Minister MK Stalin.

He accused the State Government of delaying in declaring drought-hit taluks. "They should have woken up when the pre-monsoon failed. There was undue delay in declaring drought, releasing compensation, and preparing a contingency agriculture plan. During my tenure, flood compensation was released in a month without waiting for the Centre's guidelines," he added. He said the government should convert the farmers' short-term loans into long-term and sanction new loans to farmers to stop farmers' suicides.

On the BJP-JDS alliance, Bommai said the talks are at a preliminary stage while discussions on seat-sharing and constituencies are yet to take place.

Names of 'big people' will come out: Chaitra

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

RIGHT-WING activist Chaitra Kundapura, who was arrested by Central Crime Branch (CCB) police for allegedly cheating a businessman by promising him a BJP ticket to contest from Byndoor assembly constituency in the recent elections, said the names of "big people" will come out once the seer of Mahasamsthan Math is arrested.

Chaitra, who was brought to the CCB office on Thursday morning, got out of the vehicle and on seeing reporters, said, "Let the Swamiji be caught. The truth will come out. Names of big people will come out. The bills of Indira Canteen are pending and hence they have hatched this conspiracy." Police took her inside the office even as she was speaking to reporters.

Chaitra Kundapura

She was referring to Abhinava Halashree Swamy, the seer of Mahasamsthan Mutt in Hospet, who is accused number three in the case. The complainant, Govind Babu Poojary, had alleged that he had paid Rs 1.5 crore to the seer at his Vijayanagar residence. The seer is said to be absconding and police are on the lookout for him.

Meanwhile, Home Minister Dr G Parameshwara said police had arrested Chaitra Kundapura based on a cheating case, and her arrest had nothing to do with her being a right-wing activist or BJP worker. "It is not correct to give the case a political or religious colour. Let police investigate the case," he said, adding that Chaitra's claims linking pending bills of Indira Canteen with her arrest were baseless.

Won't seek votes for JDS: Ex-Hassan MLA

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Hassan

OPPOSING the alliance between the JDS and the BJP in Karnataka for the upcoming Lok Sabha elections, former BJP MLA Preetham J Gowda said that the saffron party will not benefit from the alliance as the regional party has its presence only in a few districts.

Preetham Gowda

He reminded the BJP leaders about the remarks made by JDS leaders against Prime Minister Narendra Modi.

"JDS leaders are desperate for an alliance as they are aware that their party's downfall has begun. People of the state have completely rejected them," Gowda said. He was clear that he along with several like-minded BJP leaders are not going to seek votes for JDS candidates as the party had humiliated BJP leaders in the run-up to the recent Assembly elections. "BJP leaders will bring the matter to the notice of the high command. Honest and sincere workers are in a dilemma," he added.

The former MLA also predicted that the BJP will pay a heavy price in case they join hands with the JDS.

Taking exception to the recent statements of former CM HD Kumaraswamy that there are no differences among BJP and JDS workers over the alliance, Gowda said, "Who gave the power to Kumaraswamy to talk about the feelings of BJP workers?" He also expressed confidence in the BJP not joining hands with the JDS.

BJP-JDS alliance could upset Cong calculations

K SHIVA KUMAR
@ Mysuru

SPECULATION of the Bharatiya Janata Party striking an alliance with the Janata Dal (Secular), ahead of Lok Sabha elections, appears to be turning into a reality that poses a fresh challenge to the Congress, and upset its careful calculations.

However, the grand old party dismissed the alliance as "inconsequential" and claimed that it will bag more than 20 parliamentary seats – a gift for AICC President Mallikarjun Kharge who is from Karnataka, and Congress leader Rahul Gandhi who is happy with the implementation of four of the five guarantees.

The Congress high command hopes its party unit will be able to carry the anti-incumbency sentiment against the BJP till the Lok Sabha elections, and bag a big win with the support of Lingayats and Vokkaligas, just as it did for the assembly elections.

The BJP-JDS alliance spells trouble for the Congress, particularly Chief Minister Siddaramaiah and Deputy Chief Minister DK Shivakumar, as the JDS, with a strong cadre base, is still a worry in Old Mysuru region. A poor show in this belt, and even the state, will throw the Congress leadership into gloom. Incidentally, JDS leader HD Kumaraswamy wants to grab the opportunity to make a strong comeback, as the Congress won 38 of 52 seats in the Vokkaliga heartland.

The nature of the BJP-JDS political tie-up is believed to be mutually beneficial, unlike the JDS-Congress alliance in 2019, which proved to be mutually disastrous. The parties are traditional rivals, and the alliance forged at the top level did not go down well with the cadre. Transfer of votes did not happen as both parties are major forces in Old Mysuru.

The BJP feels it cannot allow the Congress to replicate the assembly election success in 2024. The desperation of the JDS fighting for survival, and the BJP's apprehension that the I.N.D.I.A bloc is gaining strength, has brought them together to humble the Congress.

The alliance could gain from two dominant communities — Veerashiava Lingayats and Vokkaligas. Party insiders feel that the coming together of the two parties with two dominant communities will lead to regrouping and polarisation, and other than traditional voters, the Narendra Modi brand could upset the Congress applecart.

BJP hopes to consolidate Hindu votes over the attack on Sanatana Dharma, and wants to target the Congress in its stronghold of Kanakapura, while retaining Kolar, Chikkaballapura, Mysuru, Mandya and Tumakuru districts.

CENTRAL LEADERS' OPINION IMPORTANT: BSY

While there has been a lot of speculation about the JDS-BJP alliance, former chief minister BS Yediyurappa said, "More than what state leaders are thinking, it is important to know what central leaders are thinking about the JDS-BJP alliance." Asked for his opinion, he said, "A person's opinion doesn't matter, only what the party decides will matter." It may be recalled that before Yediyurappa left for New Delhi on Tuesday, he had told the media that the issue would be decided by central leaders. On the Cauvery water issue, Yediyurappa said, "It is unpardonable that the state government permitted water to flow into Tamil Nadu when drinking water needs to be a priority."

Parameshwara, Satish visit Hariprasad for 'peace talks'

BENGALURU: It appears that the Congress leadership is making overtures to sulking party veteran BK Hariprasad. Senior ministers Dr G Parameshwara and Satish Jarkiholi were assigned to meet him at his official residence for "peace talks", following the show cause notice issued by the party's Disciplinary Committee a couple of days ago. It is learnt that Hariprasad responded to the show cause notice. This newspaper had said in its columns, prior to the September 9 meeting organised by Hariprasad's supporters, that he is likely to be included in the state cabinet around Dasara. It may be recalled that Hariprasad had made glowing references to both the leaders who called on him. Sources said they share an excellent rapport with Hariprasad — while one is from Scheduled Caste, the other is from a Scheduled Tribe. ENS

A teacher of a govt-aided school for the intellectually disabled near Sivakasi was arrested on Thursday for allegedly forcing three students to clean the school toilet. The incident, believed to have taken place few days ago, came to light after a video of students cleaning the toilet came on social media.

Get Kaveri Teertha now through India Post

G SUBHASH CHANDRA
@ Davanagere

PEOPLE need not rush to Talakaveri on the "Tula Sankramana" day to get the Kaveri Theerthodbhava, the gushing of Cauvery water from 'Brahma Kundike' at Talacauvery. India Post in association with the Hindu Religious Institutions and Charitable Endowments Department will be delivering the 'Sri Talakaveri Temple Prasada,' at your doorsteps through the post at just Rs 300.

By paying the amount through e-payment at any post office, devotees can receive e-prasada at their doorsteps. Even the prasadam is handed over to any of the remotest houses through the branch post office network of India Post.

Speaking to TNIE Superintendent of the Post offices Davanagere division, Chandrashekhar said, "Under the diversified business undertaken by the India Post, we are supplying the prasad to the devotees' doorsteps. Understanding the importance of the auspicious 'Tula Sankramana', India Post has taken initiative of supplying Kaveri Teertha to the devotees," he added.

Further he said that, the devotees need to come to the nearest sub-post offices or Davanagere head post office for booking for the E-prasada after which our postmen will deliver the Prasad to their homes.

TDP, JSP to jointly fight '24 polls

I hope BJP will sail along with us, PM Modi knows about CM Jagan, says Pawan Kalyan

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Vijayawada

JANA Sena chief and actor Pawan Kalyan on Thursday finally ended his long-standing ambiguity on the alliance with the TDP and announced that both parties will face elections together. "I hope that BJP will sail along with us. Prime Minister Narendra Modi knows everything about Chief Minister Jagan," he said.

The actor, flanked by TDP chief N Chandrababu Naidu's son Lokesh and NTR's son Balakrishna, was speaking at the Rajahmundry Central Prison after a mulakat with the former chief minister, who has been remanded in judicial custody in the Skill Development Corporation scam.

Pawan's announcement has had the BJP, his current ally, in a spot of bother. The saffron party has yet to take a call on allying with the TDP. However, the BJP State unit, in a statement, clarified that party national president JP Nadda and Prime Minister Modi would decide on alliances. For now, Jana Sena continues to be its ally, the BJP claimed. It is pertinent to note that State BJP chief Daggubati Purandeswari has condemned the manner of Naidu's arrest, but apart from that, did little to extend support.

Explaining himself, Pawan, who fought against the YSRC and TDP in 2019, clarified that talks on seat-sharing would be held later. "We will prepare Jana Sena and TDP cadre for polls. Who are YSRC leaders to tell us to fight alone? Have I advised Jagan to contest from Amalapuram? Jagan is flouting all norms which is the reason why I am standing shoulder to shoulder with Lokesh and Balakrishna today. I strongly condemn Naidu's arrest. It won't do to fight separately if we are to end YSRC's atrocities. They will continue for decades. That is why I have decided today to join hands with TDP," he said.

He claimed he had made the decision keeping in mind the future of the State, not his own. Lamenting that a leader who had brought former US President Bill Clinton to Cyberabad was now in Rajahmundry jail, he cautioned officials to reconsider what would happen to them. He added that he had taken the issue of Naidu's security to the notice of the Prime Minister and Union Home Minister. Pawan Kalyan's move was expected but the timing, TDP sources said, was perfect. "It is a morale booster for us at this difficult time and will help us capitalise on the sympathy for Chandrababu Naidu," they said.

With Naidu behind bars and no other leader with a strong statewide appeal in its ranks, it appears that TDP may have to lean heavily on Pawan until at least the former chief minister secures bail.

Pawan could easily overshadow Lokesh and other TDP leaders given his cinematic appeal, and could become the TDP's superstar.

'Pawan Kalyan's alliance with TDP not new'

Vijayawada: Making light of the TDP-JSP alliance, YSRC general secretary Sajjala Ramakrishna Reddy said JSP chief Pawan Kalyan had been supporting the TDP since 2009 and there is no meaning in saying that he is forging an alliance with TDP afresh. "In 2014, the JSP allied with TDP to benefit the former. In 2019 as the TDP was in power, the JSP fought the elections alone to divide the anti-establishment vote and benefit the ruling party," Sajjala remarked. "Several leaders, who contested the 2019 elections on JSP, say that it was TDP chief N Chandrababu Naidu who decided the JSP candidates. When did Pawan Kalyan and Naidu parted ways to say that they are allying again now?" Sajjala questioned. Speaking to media persons, Sajjala also felt that the TDP chief might had put the responsibility of bringing the BJP on board with the JSP leader. Asked about the possible outcome of TDP-BJP-JSP combine fighting the 2024 elections, Sajjala exuded confidence that positive vote will be the deciding factor in the poll battle.

NEW APP ON THE BLOCK

17-yr-old's app will help you learn Kannada

PURAN CHOUDHARY @ Bengaluru

SEVENTEEN-year-old Prajwal Reddy has developed a mobile application to help non-Kannada speakers to easily learn and converse in Kannada through daily bite-sized lessons. The KannadaDisco app is available on both Android and iOS App stores free of cost.

Prajwal Reddy

The content of the course is easy to understand and can be accessed from anywhere and anytime without internet connection. Individuals can also schedule their daily reminders to not miss their lessons. The app has different sections such as reading and pronunciation, 'Word of the day', vocabulary, grammar, and conversation phrase book which includes phrases one can use in the market, restaurants and government offices. The phrases are simple sentences in the Kannada language with their English translation to help the user interact, making it street-friendly.

Moving from the US to Bengaluru at the age of 10, Reddy learned Kannada all by himself. He learnt the language over a period of 6-8 months by studying expansive modules.

"I spoke to other Kannadigas who were in a similar situation as me - people not brought up in India and didn't have early exposure to the language. I was surprised to notice that many of them were uninterest in learning Kannada as 'it was not required', while those interested didn't know where to start. That's when I got the idea of combining my interests in programming and languages to develop an app that teaches Kannada to non-Kannada speakers," said Reddy. He started working on the app in September 2022 and took over a year to perfect the work.

Currently a class 12 student at Greenwood High School, Reddy plans to expand the app to other languages which will help individuals learn Kannada through Hindi, Telugu and Tamil. Including an interactive space for quizzes and language games, he intends to make learning fun for individuals.

So far, the app has 1,600 downloads and Reddy aims to collaborate with schools to integrate it into the curriculum for primary school children to learn Kannada.

ICMR team to review Nipah status

Kozhikode: High-level teams from the Centre and the Indian Council of Medical Research (ICMR), New Delhi, reached Kozhikode on Thursday to review the status of the Nipah outbreak, in the wake of the virus being reported at Ayancheri and Maruthonkara villages in the district. The central team held a review meeting with senior officials representing the state government and reviewed the functioning of the labs in the district. The team will visit the affected villages to conduct a scientific study on the source of the virus and the measures to contain its spread. Union Health Minister Mansukh Mandaviya said the Centre is monitoring the situation and taking necessary steps to prevent the spread. Union Minister of State for Health and Family Welfare Bharti Praveen Pawar said that a multidisciplinary team headed by Mala Chhabra will probe the outbreak in the 'most scientific' manner, and added that the Union Health Ministry and Indian Council of Medical Research-National Institute of Virology, Pune, are monitoring the situation daily. The labour class is the most affected, being exposed to 34 degree Celsius. "It is difficult to work under the scorching heat, but we have no option. We are forced to bear the heat to earn our livelihood," said Vijay, a construction labourer in Udupi.

KARNATAKA SETS UP CHECK POSTS

In face of the Nipah virus outbreak in Kerela, the Karnataka Health Department has started setting up check-posts for fever surveillance in all the bordering districts. In an advisory on Thursday, Health and Family Welfare Commissioner D Randeep instructed people to avoid unnecessary travel to Kozhikode district in Kerala where four cases have been reported. He also instructed setting up of fever surveillance check-posts in Chamarajanagar, Mysuru, Kodagu and Dakshina Kannada. The department to also train healthcare workers for better identification of suspected patients. All district hospitals in border areas must reserve at least two beds to quarantine suspected cases. Adequate medicine stock, PPE kits and equipment for sample collection and transportation must be arranged, the advisory stated.

Delhi excise policy case: ED summons Kavitha for questioning

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Hyderabad

THE Enforcement Directorate (ED) has issued summons asking MLC K Kavitha to appear before its officials for questioning at its New Delhi office on Friday over her alleged involvement in the Delhi excise policy scam.

Four accused persons in the case — P Sharath Chandra Reddy, Magunta Raghava Reddy, MP Magunta Srinivasulu Reddy, and Arun Ramachandran Pillai — have now become approvers.

The ED issued the summons to the BRS leader just a day after Arun Pillai turned approver in the case. The agency has repeatedly claimed that Arun Pillai had organised meetings for what is referred to as the "South Group", which had allegedly paid ₹crore as "kickbacks" to Aam Aadmi Party (AAP) ministers, including Delhi Chief Minister Arvind Kejriwal, and other officials. It is alleged that Kavitha was part of the "South Group" and benefited from illicit payments.

Both the ED and CBI have alleged that Kavitha received kickbacks in the form of a significant share in Indo Spirit, held under the name of Arun Pillai as a benami holder.

Kavitha has already faced questioning by the ED three times on March 16, 20 and 21, and she is now being summoned for the fourth time. The Central Bureau Of Investigation (CBI) also questioned her at her residence as part of the case. BRS leaders are growing increasingly concerned about the outcome of the interrogation, given that four individuals previously accused in the case, have turned approvers. Meanwhile, within BRS circles, there is speculation about what information the approvers may have provided to the ED regarding Kavitha's involvement in the scam. According to sources within the ED, her summons for questioning are based on the statements provided by these four approvers.

Later in the day, Kavitha said that she had forwarded a copy of the notice to the party's legal team and would act based on their advice. Sources suggest that Kavitha may choose not to appear at the ED's office, citing her pending petition in the Supreme Court.

These are not ED notices, they are Modi notices... We strongly believe that it is a politically motivated notice because of the charged-up environment in Telangana because of upcoming elections - K Kavitha, BRS MLC

AFTER SPEECHES

Seer gets threat letter, min promises action

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Belagavi

NISHKALAMANTAPA Swamiji of Bailur Nishkalamangapa has received a threatening letter again over his 'bold' and progressive speeches. The seer has been threatened on several occasions in the past for adopting a 'bold' approach and delivering fearless speeches on progressive ideologies. PWD Minister Satish Jarkiholi met the seer on Thursday and said he would bring the issue to the notice of Chief Minister Siddaramaiah.

Addressing media persons, Jarkiholi said it was common for progressive thinkers and those involved in bringing a social change to get threatening calls and letters.

However, Jarkiholi said he had not received any kind of threatening calls so far. The government and its agencies would initiate necessary action whenever such an incident occurred, he said. The people involved in constructive and progressive works should continue their attempts without getting disturbed by such situations, he said, adding that Nishkalamantapa Swamiji has been struggling hard to ensure that the ideologies and works of Lord Basavanna reach every home. "We are also involved in taking messages of Budha, Basava and B R Ambedkar to every home. I keep meeting Nijagunanda Swamiji at regular intervals as our objectives and fight are similar," added Jarkiholi.

SUO MOTU REVISION

Judge: HC orders reflect the voice of institution

R SIVAKUMAR @ Chennai

JUSTICE N Anand Venkatesh of the Madras High Court on Thursday rejected the plea of Tamil Nadu government and Higher Education Minister K Ponmudy seeking his recusal from hearing a suo motu revision of a trial court's order acquitting the minister in a graft case. "The revision reflects the voice of the institution, not an individual judge," the court said. "The court observes that suo motu revisions have been looked upon in some quarters as a sort of witch hunt spearheaded by one judge. It is, therefore, necessary to remind all concerned that these suo motu revisions have been exercised not by one judge but by the HC as an institution to ensure that the streams of criminal justice are not subverted and remain pure and unsullied," the judge said.

"Decision-making by the HC is an institutional action and not the action of any particular judge," he added.

Referring to the claim of bias on his part owing to the caustic remarks he had made, the judge said the objection of bias can only be raised at the instance of a person who has suffered or is likely to suffer an adverse adjudication. Even if the order of the special court is to be set aside, the direct beneficiary would be the state because it would achieve the same result that it may want through filing an appeal, he said.

He also said it is a 'mystery' as to why the mighty state is shooting a plea of bias aimed at him 'from the shoulders of the accused'; and the plea of bias is 'completely misconceived'.

Referring to the argument that the suo motu revision has taken away the right of the state to go for an appeal, the judge said the revision would actually support the state and subserve the same purpose.

Explaining the revisional powers of the HC, he noted that the court has not exercised any of the appellate powers enumerated under Section 401(1) of CrPC nor has it set aside the acquittal order of the special court in Vellore; and so, the plea alleging violation of sections 401 (2) of CrPC necessarily fails.

Public can submit content to be checked, agencies to track proactively

"IN cases where facts are not clear, all available and unambiguous information will be provided. Also, details of the methodology adopted will be shared and transparent corrections will be made when new facts emerge," Kharge explained.

Further, he said that an agency, which has expertise and experience in the field, along with technological infrastructure, would be hired, as combating fake news peddling requires advanced tools like artificial intelligence. "The public can also submit content which they feel needs fact-checking, while the agencies will also be proactively hunting. After the review, a complaint will be lodged by the government if legal action is required. If the content requires blocking, there will be liaisoning with the Centre and if there is a breach of the social media platform's user/public policy, it will be reported to the social media intermediaries," the minister said.

FREE SPEECH BATTLE TO GO ON EVEN AFTER SC SETTLES SEDITION CASE

THE Supreme Court's decision to reject the request by the Union government to defer hearing on petitions challenging the sedition law has brought the focus back on this colonial era legislation. The government had argued that the sedition law was on its way out as the Bharatiya Nyaya Sanhita (BNS), or the new Indian Penal Code, is already in the process of being passed by parliament. The court, however, held that the BNS will come into force prospectively and not retrospectively. Hence, in order to decide the fate of all those who have already been booked under the sedition law, it was imperative for the court to decide on its constitutionality. It gave a clear indication of its stand last year when it asked the government to hold the sedition law in abeyance and to not file any new FIR under the IPC's Section 124(A), which includes the offence of sedition.

The highest court's rejection of Centre's request to postpone hearing in the case is a clear reiteration of the judicial pushback against the law. The battle against the draconian provisions under Section 124(A) will continue to be fought long after the Supreme Court's decision on its constitutional validity. This is because all the offences listed under Section 124(A) find mention under Section 150 of the newly-framed BNS. The term sedition is not mentioned in the new bill, but the definition of "acts endangering sovereignty, unity and integrity of India" has been broadened and the punishment made more stringent. The government has made it clear that it does not wish to let go of the sedition law.

The Law Commission had recommended against a complete repeal of the sedition law. In its 279th report tabled earlier this year, the commission suggested that the sedition law be retained with some amendments. The government has followed the commission's advice. But the Supreme Court, under Chief Justice D Y Chandrachud, is clearly not on the same page on this issue. The government's plea for deferment was an attempt to postpone the matter to a later date, when the court would be more amenable to its reasoning. At stake here is the citizens' right to free speech and their freedom to question the government in power.

TEACHERS MUST MENTOR, NOT DIVIDE STUDENTS

A series of disturbing incidents involving teachers targeting students of a certain community on school campuses deserves introspection. The Uttar Pradesh episode of students slapping a classmate for failing to learn his tables, egged on by communal comments from the headmistress, provoked outrage. A Delhi government schoolteacher questioned a few students why their families had not moved to Pakistan during the Partition. In Karnataka, a teacher asked two students to "go to Pakistan", a rant common among fundamentalists. Earlier in the year, a video of a government school student in the state being beaten with a cable went viral. Last year, a plucky student of the Manipal Institute of Technology complained against a professor for calling him a terrorist because of his faith; the professor was forced to apologise to the teenager and barred from the institution. In almost all the cases, phone videos have exposed the teachers' underlying prejudices.

Their actions violate the Right to Education Act, which prohibits 'physical punishment' and 'mental harassment' under Section 17(1) and makes it a punishable offence. The guidelines issued by the National Commission for Protection of Child Rights define 'physical punishment' as any action that causes pain, hurt or injury and discomfort to a child. 'Mental harassment' is defined as any non-physical treatment that is detrimental to the academic and psychological well-being of a child, including sarcasm, calling names, scolding using humiliating adjectives, intimidation, using derogatory remarks, ridiculing, shaming or belittling a child. All the teachers were clearly culpable. Though action was taken against them in all the cases, such incidents are enough for the nation to hang its head in shame. Their actions are a sad reflection of the atmosphere of communal strife in the nation.

The teacher or guru has always been a revered figure and the guru-shishya parampara is a cherished Indian tradition. Such a departure in conduct on the part of the guru must be condemned, because such teachers impose their biases on young minds and bring toxic personal attitudes and discrimination into classrooms. The teaching profession is considered a noble one, and a teacher's role is that of a mentor who moulds young minds and imparts holistic education and life skills. Educational institutions must screen educators before recruiting them, and ensure that they are not political activists who bring conflict to campuses.

QUICK TAKE

SLEEP BETTER TO SAVE THE DAY

INDIANS go to sleep later, have shorter sleep, and have poorer sleep quality than people elsewhere. The National University of Singapore has analysed data from 2,20,000 users of a wearable sleep tracker and ranked 35 countries. India fares at the bottom of most heaps. The average Indian sleeps about six and a half hours on weekdays, significantly less than the seven hours clocked by the Irish. We do not sleep much longer on weekends, too. One reason is long work hours and work-related worries. But to be more alert at work, we need to sleep better. See the harmful cycle? Let's break it.

Democracy needs to be woven with scientific innovation. The process needs to be ritualised in playful ways so that the institutions don't become clerical or authoritarian

GOING BEYOND BIG SCIENCE, EMBRACING CREATIVE SOCIETY

SHIV VISVANATHAN

Social scientist associated with the Compost Heap, a group researching alternative imaginations

BIG Science determines the rules in the field of science. The Chandrayaan mission is an example of Big Science. Between Big Science and Big Media, we invite the spectacle and exhibit. Chandrayaan as a ritual repeats the rhetoric of science, making scientific temper the official ideology of the nation state. The pluralism of science gets lost in the monolithic methods of construction. The challenge is this: how can we pluralise science? In line with this, I would like to narrate a few anecdotes.

These anecdotes are about modest projects without the research grants that science seems to command. Their modesty lies not in the narrative but also in the money they seem to involve.

Two years ago, there was a meeting in Chirala, a town in Andhra Pradesh, between a group of local weavers and European historians of science. While the weavers sat on the ground, the historians sat on chairs, physically and mentally distant. Suddenly, a Dutch historian suggested that they all sit on the floor. The mood changed, and two sets of experts from two different milieus met as equals. It was a cross-cultural seminar where the groups tried to translate their philosophies with each other.

What followed was even more exciting. One of the weavers told the historian, "You have not only stolen our technology but our epistemology." Few suspected that the weaver could articulate a formal theory of knowledge. Weavers are upset because the government has dubbed their industry as a fading one. Over 13 million weavers are deprived of the right to articulate their theories and world views that stem from their experience in the craft. So, they are looking for an epistemologist to work with them outside the ambit of the government. As one trade union leader put it: "Show us how to survive with such governance, and help us build a science institute beyond official science."

There is a certain sense of the philosophical in the life-giving nature of weaving. Dastkar in Andhra Pradesh, a public charitable trust which aims to promote artisan industries suited to ownership by primary producers, is trying to revive weaving and the use of indigenous colour.

It's interesting that these projects emerge from the informal sector of science. Sumitra Vasudev, a leading musicologist, met me at a seminar and said, "You have to differentiate between orality and print."

Orality, she said, was not a mechanical regurgitation of memory. Although orality was embedded in memory, it possessed an epistemic domain of its own. Memory, she pointed out, did not imply the Macaulayite technique of rote memory, but was creativity and invention. It is ironic that in this information age, orality and memory are being suppressed as epistemologies. To remember is to theorise. This is an argument that goes back to Albert Lord's book, A Singer of Tales, a classic about Balkan legends.

Sumitra is the lead fellow of an informal project on orality, where researchers seek to recover the theoretical role of memory in an information society where theory is getting erased. Carnatic musicologists have done much to contribute to this theoretical recovery. They have shown the relation between orality, memory, epistemology and community. Musicians become their own epistemologists to elaborate the creativity of their music.

Recently, I came across a set of papers debating the Digital Personal Data Protection Act, 2023. I analysed 10 debates by 10 different groups. What was fascinating was that ordinary people, activists, craftsmen, and scholars had literally become knowledge panchayats, with their ideas going farther than science ever could. One group argued that information in a digital form could not create a commons of sharing. They pointed out that the commons was an epistemology of sharing, not a mechanical resource base for accumulation. While the papers were informal, the scholarship was deep. It is a pity that there is little access to such nuggets of reflective knowledge, of laymen challenging expertise to rework the theories of knowledge. It is interesting to see how the consumer not only becomes a historian of science but an everyday expert in technology. A different kind of intelligence is embodied in the democratic imagination. Democracy needs to combine cognition and community.

An equally fascinating idea was proposed by architect and urbanologist Thomas Mical vis-a-vis the intellectual life in Bengaluru. He felt that the city and its knowledge system was divided like C P Snow's The Two Cultures. The sciences and the humanities rarely gossiped together. Mical proposed the idea of a new Anthropocene lab, where there would be a new Earth Charter that would go beyond global technocratic diktats. He also explained how the interaction of the knowledge systems would create a holism that is more life-giving for the Earth.

Mical's approach to interdisciplinarity and the Earth aimed to unite an intellectually divided city and create a new system of thought. Mical visualised the city as an interactive community and an interdisciplinary system. The interacting alchemy transformed both knowledge and the urban system. Bengaluru started creating new imaginaries of knowledge for itself. One is waiting with excitement to see how this pans out.

All these projects, while rich in thought, are poor in money. What sustains them is a commitment to knowledge and democracy, which is impressive. It tells us that it's time we formalise the idea of the knowledge panchayat as a ritual process. Democracy needs not just scientific innovation but these panchayats.

We need to ritualise the process of thought in playful ways and still make sure such institutions are neither clerical nor authoritarian. The inventiveness of such entities weaves democracy and science together, adding not only to the imagination of knowledge but also to the diversities of science. It challenges Big Science with a sense of playfulness.

In the decades to come, these might be the new landmarks of a creative society, creating an impressive world which intertwines colour and nature. In a wonderful way, the history of science is adding to the creative idea of science. It's a story we must recite with gratitude.

ONE TAMASHA, TOO MANY AGENDAS

KAJAL BASU

Veteran journalist

THIS is not a G20 world. Over the past several months, the expanded group of leading economies has gone from a would-be concert of nations to a cacophony of competing voices, as the urgency of the financial crisis has waned and the diversity of political and economic values within the group has asserted itself."– Ian Bremmer and Nouriel Roubini, A G-Zero World, January 31, 2011

With the 18th iteration of the G20 over, we should extricate ourselves from the seductive fug of exorbitant bling and pomp of this annual meeting of cheerful heads of state, and come to terms with whether or not this soirée of august luminaries from across the ideological divide serves its purpose of global guidance and decision-making for a better future.

Many, including I, would say not—that it is a jamboree for geo-schmoozing. Host cities are cosmetically done up with multimillion-dollar infusions of transient beautification, urban presentability for two days, which are then ignored by visiting masters of the universe types, hurrying through lunches and dinners and conferences and arranged touristic excursions.

The G20 wasn't always this fraught with controversy. It began promisingly enough. In 2008—the year the global economic megacrisis broke and the G20 became a heads-of-state huddle—and 2009, there was a consensus on instituting spending measures of $4 trillion to revive economies, work around trade barriers, and implement extensive financial sector reforms.

This consensus broke in a year. In 2010, the G20 began fraying at the seams as each member country chose to follow its own development piper instead of jamming together for a common purpose, which would have hobbled some countries while boosting others. As economic and environmental crises have become more and more local, even hyperlocal, global priorities have thereafter routinely been backbenched.

The European Parliament's briefing body, the Think Tank, reported on September 8, 2023 that "the outcomes of recent summits have not been as clear-cut and unanimous as in previous crises (such as in 2008)".

One argument goes that perhaps the G20 summits are too focused on finance and debt. The opposite argument, born in recent years with the rising self-iconisation of the political heads of countries both democratic and autocratic, chasing after populism, is that the G20's remit has been made too large, too thinly spread, too diverse, with too many agendas and interest groups. It has no continuation of focus from year to year.

Take India's priorities at the just-ended G20 summit in New Delhi, in the words of the Union Minister of State for External Affairs, V Muraleedharan: "inclusive and resilient growth; progress on sustainable development goals; green development and Lifestyle for Environment; technological transformation and public digital infrastructure; reforming multilateral institutions; women-led development; international peace and harmony", and "digital public goods, just energy transition, health, education and employment".

Some say G20 summits are too focused on finance and debt. Others say the group's remit has become too large, with no continuation of focus from year to year

It's an impossible task, politically buzzworthy but infinitely difficult to impose or organise. In the event, the G20 New Delhi Leaders' Declaration is a catch-all, mention-everything document with no focus and no real intent, other than reaffirming Narendra Modi's fixation with the number one: 'One Earth, One Family, One Future', in line with his 'One Nation, One Election'.

But the family was divided. The jamboree ended without the traditional family photo. Several Western leaders didn't want to be seen with a Russian official. It was that stunningly anodyne.

Analyst Seshadri Kumar listed the big jumble of ideas in a staccato manner in an online post, The New Delhi Declaration of G20 — Or, What a Unanimous Declaration Looks Like in a Divided World:

■ World faces lots of challenges. Challenges bad. Poverty, inequality, climate change, pandemics, war bad. Sustainable development good. Gender gap bad. No fighting. Ukraine war very bad. But each of us has our own viewpoint on the Ukraine war, so we won't argue over that.

■ Everyone should get food, grains, and fertilisers from both Russia and Ukraine. Bombing bad. UN good. Economic crisis bad. Free trade good. No protectionism. Good work good, bad work bad. Skills good.

■ Everyone must have social security. Good working conditions good. Child labour bad. Corruption bad. AI good. Digital divide bad. Tourism and culture good. Hunger bad. Malnutrition bad. Drought resistant crops good. Millets good. Trade barriers in agriculture bad. Fertiliser good. Pandemics bad. Anti-microbial resistance bad.

■ Traditional medicine good. Mental health important. Addictive drugs bad. Education for everyone good. Culture good. Climate change bad, but everyone has their own idea of how to deal with it, so we won't discuss those differences here. Energy transition good, but let each country figure it out. Plastic pollution evil.

■ Digital ecosystems good. AI good, but rights and safety of people should be protected. Women important. Sexual violence bad. Cross border payments good. Terrorism bad. FATF good. Africa good. Migrants good. Religious diversity good. Congrats India for a great summit. We should keep meeting like this regularly...because it gives us all a chance to party.

It was an exorbitant party. India blew ₹4,110 crore on the two-day summit, compared to Indonesia's ₹364 crore in 2022, Japan's ₹2,660 crore in 2019, Argentina's ₹931 crore in 2018, Germany's ₹642 crore in 2017, Australia's ₹2,653 crore in 2014, Russia's ₹170 crore 2013, France's ₹712 crore in 2011, and Canada's ₹465 crore in 2010.

How much of this expenditure percolated down? Is this here-today-gone-tomorrow expenditure? The New Delhi Traders Association determined that shops and restaurants lost ₹400 crore because of how the city was locked down for the three days of the summit. India had an outlay of ₹990 crore for it. The estimated cost was overshot by 420%.

If anything has come out of such extravaganzas over time, it isn't evident in the degrading environment, the exponentially growing rich-poor divide, the escalating sociopolitical barbarism at the gates.

Blinken: Indo-US ties have never been more dynamic

Says 2 nations team up on all fronts — from semiconductors to defence

YESHI SELI @New Delhi

A FEW days after US President Joe Biden said that the US-India partnership was stronger, closer and more dynamic than ever in history, US Secretary of State Anthony Blinken reaffirmed those thoughts.

"The US-India strategic partnership has never been more dynamic, as we team up on everything from advanced semiconductors to defence cooperation," Blinken said at the John Hopkins School of Advanced International Studies on Wednesday.

Blinken also spoke about the Quad partnership, of which the two nations were members.

"We have elevated the Quad partnership with India, Japan and Australia to deliver for our countries and the world on everything from manufacturing vaccines to strengthening maritime security to addressing climate challenges," Blinken added.

An India-Middle East-Europe Economic Corridor was announced by Prime Minister Narendra Modi and US President Joe Biden on the sidelines of the G20 Summit that concluded recently in New Delhi.

"And just this past week at the G20 Summit, President Biden and Indian Prime Minister Modi announced another ambitious transportation, energy and technology corridor that will connect the ports of Asia, the Middle East and the Europe. Saudi Arabia, the United Arab Emirates, France, Germany, Italy and the European Union will team up with the US and India to turbo-charge clean energy production, digital connectivity, and strengthening of critical supply chains across the region," Blinken added.

Meanwhile, Biden, on his visit during the G20 Summit, had spoken about India and the US being trusted partners. "The partnership between India and the US is rooted in Mahatma Gandhi's principal of trusteeship. Trusteeship that is shared between our countries and for our shared planet," Biden had commented after visiting Rajghat on September 10.

On the day of his arrival on September 8 too, Biden had said that he reaffirmed that the US-India partnership was stronger, closer and more dynamic than any other time in history.

PM Modi, after his bilateral meeting with Biden on September 8, endorsed the strengthening of ties between India and US, and maintained that the relations between the two nations would further global good.

"Our meeting was very productive. We were able to discuss many topics that will further economic and people-to-people linkages between India and the US. The friendship between our nations will continue to play a great role in furthering global good," Modi had said.

For Quad and for global good

US Secretary of State Anthony Blinken said the country has elevated the Quad partnership with India, Japan and Australia "to deliver for our countries and the world on everything from manufacturing vaccines to strengthening maritime security to addressing climate challenges."

26 nations discuss sharing maritime info

MAYANK SINGH @New Delhi

Participants of the Maritime Information Sharing Workshop 2023 | TWITTER

1. Maritime Information Sharing Workshop is the flagship event of the Information Fusion Centre – Indian Ocean Region
2. Members of 26 countries exclusively from the Indian Ocean Rim Association & the Djibouti Code of Conduct/ Jeddah Amendment attended
3. Theme this year was 'Advancing Maritime Security for a Sustainable Future'
4. Workshop will hold a tabletop maritime security exercise simulating various maritime contingencies

POINTING out that the Indian Ocean Region plays a vital role for the larger part of the humanity, Deputy Chief of Naval Staff Vice Admiral Sanjay Mahindru on Thursday stressed on the significance of collaboration to address the maritime challenges in the region.

Speaking at the Maritime Information Sharing Workshop 2023, Mahindru termed these challenges as unique both in their nature and complexity.

"Enhanced situational awareness of the maritime domain is required for the security agencies to respond to these challenges effectively. At the same time, the scale, scope and transnational nature of maritime activities make it difficult for any country to address these challenges individually," he said, adding, "However, the Indian Ocean Region faces challenges like maritime terrorism, piracy, human and contraband trafficking, illegal and unregulated fishing, arms running and poaching."

The Maritime Information Sharing Workshop brought together members of 26 countries exclusively of the Indian Ocean Rim Association and the Djibouti Code of Conduct/ Jeddah Amendment from September 14-16. The workshop was hosted by the Information Fusion Centre - Indian Ocean Region.

Djibouti Code of Conduct/ Jeddah Amendment is a maritime grouping, of which India is also a part. The Indian Ocean Rim Association is an intergovernmental organisation aimed at strengthening regional cooperation and sustainable development within the Indian Ocean region.

The Information Fusion Centre-Indian Ocean Region was established keeping in mind the significance of the Indian Ocean Region to world trade and security.

At the workshop, Mahindru reiterated India's commitment to working together with all member states of the two associations towards coordinating and contributing to enhanced maritime security in the Indian Ocean Region.

The Indian Ocean is the third largest ocean with significant trade routes and is an important lifeline to international trade and transport.

Half of the world's container ships, one-third of the world's bulk cargo traffic and two-thirds of the world's oil shipments pass through it.

As per the Indian navy, the significance of the Indian Ocean Region extends far beyond its geographical boundaries. It serves as a hub of economic activities, a bridge between continents, and a stage for geopolitical dynamics. "Maritime security is not just crucial for economic stability but also for geopolitical equilibrium," Mahindru said.

The workshop is being organised to afford cohesive and collective responses to the many maritime security challenges that the Indian Ocean Region faces and develop a robust functional understanding amongst participants.

India established the Information Fusion Centre - Indian Ocean Region (IFC-IOR) at Gurugram in December 2018, with a mission to enhance maritime safety and security in the region. IFC-IOR, presently headed by Captain Rohit Bajpai, is a unique centre where International Liaison Officers from partner nations collaborate to counter challenges to maritime safety and security.

Bilkis case convicts got parole several times: SC

SHRUTI KAKKAR @New Delhi

THE convicts in the Bilkis Bano case had the privilege of being released on parole for several days and several times, a Supreme Court bench observed on Thursday while considering a batch of pleas challenging their early release.

Eleven persons, convicted in the case and had been serving jail terms, were prematurely released on August 15, 2022, following a decision by the Gujarat government.

A bench of Justices BV Nagarathna and Ujjal Bhuyan said that it was only considering the "correctness" of the Gujarat government's decision to release the convicts early.

When senior advocate Sidhharth Luthra, the counsel for Ramesh Rupabhai Chandana who was one of the convicts, argued that life in jail is a completely cut-off one, the bench remarked, "In this case, they had the privilege of coming out for several days altogether, several times. There are some convicts, who are more privileged than others."

"Fifteen years in custody. There has to be an ability to pay. I must tell your lordships the reality. The issue is, the life in jail is a completely cut-off life. You are away from home. You are reduced to labour. You have no sources," Luthra said.

Regarding the court's remarks on "privilege", he urged the court to consider individual circumstances and view how they have reformed. "Every convict is not the same and must be looked at with a different approach, through the lens of reformation and on the basis of individual circumstances. They can't be painted with the same brush. The question is, should these people be deprived of liberty on the basis of considerations not germane to executive arrangement?" Luthra asked.

> Every convict is not the same and must be looked at with a different approach, through the lens of reformation and on the basis of individual circumstances.
>
> Siddharth Luthra, Senior Advocate

The court, during the hearing, also said, "Today, we are considering the correctness of the grant of remission. Very rarely is a grant of remission assailed," it said.

Luthra told the court that the trial court had consciously kept the possibility of reformation open by not awarding the convicts with death penalty.

PM lauds uploading of SC data on Data Grid

Prime Minister Narendra Modi on Thursday lauded Chief Justice of India DY Chandrachud for onboarding Supreme Court's data on National Judicial Data Grid, which grants people an opportunity to track pendency of cases on a real-time basis. Announcing the onboarding of apex court data on the data grid on Thursday, Chandrachud said the step would bring transparency and accountability in the judicial domain.

Plea against excluding meat from mid-day meals binned

SHRUTI KAKKAR @New Delhi

THE Supreme Court on Thursday said it is not within the court's domain to decide the choice of food for children of a particular religion. It subsequently dismissed a petition challenging the Kerala High Court order, which upheld the Lakshadweep administration's decision to exclude chicken, beef and other meat from the mid-day meal for school children.

A bench of Justices Aniruddha Bose and Bela M Trivedi also said that court cannot import personal preferences in policy matters. It added that the scope of judicial review is limited in matters that fall within the realm of executive policy.

"We do not find any error in the judgment of the Kerala High Court in dismissing the public interest litigation. So far as the mid-day meal is concerned, the administration has retained non-vegetarian items such as egg and fish, which Additional Solicitor General Nataraj submits is available in abundance in the said islands. What is being questioned in this appeal is a policy decision of the administration and no breach of any legal provision has been pointed out," the bench said.

National security, economy & social harmony top RSS Pune meet agenda

RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR @New Delhi

RSS chief Mohan Bhagwat and general secretary Dattatreya Hosabale during the Akhil Bharatiya Samanvay Baithak in Pune on Thursday | PTI

THE Rashtriya Swayamsevak Sangh (RSS), along with functionaries of RSS-inspired organisations, on Thursday started brainstorming on various issues, including national security and economy, in Pune.

The meeting began with the offering of flowers to the Bharata mata image by RSS chief Mohan Bhagwat and general secretary Dattatreya Hosabale as per the Sangh tradition.

BJP national president JP Nadda and other key officials from RSS-inspired organisations attended the first day of three-day annual meet.

According to the RSS's official statement issued here, 267 office-bearers, including 30 sisters of 36 RSS-affiliated organisations, will attend the meet.

"The discussions will elaborate on topics like environment, kutumb-prabodhan (family enlightenment), social cohesiveness, Swadesh behaviour and civil duties," the RSS said.

Prominent functionaries attending the meet include Rashtra Sevika Samiti chief Shantakka, Chandatai from Mahila Samanvay, Renu Pathak from Rashtriye Seva Bharati, Ramchandra Kharadi, president of Vanvasi Kalyan Ashram, VHP working president Alok Kumar, Raj Sharan Shahi from Akhil Bharatiya Vidyarthi Parishad, BJP chief JP Nadda and Dinesh Kulkarni from Bharatiya Kisan Sangh. The meeting will conclude on September 16.

Significantly, the RSS annual meet is taking place at a time when only 6-7 months are left for the next general election.

Sources in the Sangh said the discussions will include review of Sangh's own performance.

At present, the entire country is speculating about the possibility of implementation of One Nation One Election campaign as well as the wider use of Bharat as the country name. "There is a possibility of a discussion on such issues also among the functionaries of Sangh as well those who are attending from RSS-inspired other organisations", remarked a senior functionary of the saffron party.

Kids among 12 missing in boat capsize

RAMASHANKAR @Patna

SIX school children and six adults on Thursday were missing after a country boat carrying them capsized midstream in the swollen Bagmati river in Bihar's Muzaffarpur district.

The missing children were crossing the river on the boat to reach their school located on the other side of the river.

They were going to school because the state education department had made 75% attendance mandatory, failing which their names would be deleted from the rolls.

Local residents said that the parents were compelled to send their children to school at the risk of their lives to adhere to the strict guidelines issued by the state government.

Nikhat Praveen, a Class 10 student at Baraul High School, was among those rescued by local residents. She could not recollect how she was saved.

"I along with other people was crossing the river on the boat. Suddenly I heard a loud thud and the boat hit against a hard blunt substance. The boatman lost control," she said.

Twelve are still missing in the boat tragedy. Search operations are on | ANI

Students have no other means of commuting except boats, she said. "There is no approach road to the school from my village. As a result we have to cross the river on the boat to reach school," she told the local media. The locals said that the boat carrying more than 30 people capsized midstream near Madhupur Patti Ghat under Gaighat block in Muzaffarpur district. Most of the people were crossing the river to go other side to fetch ration.

Umesh Yadav, another resident, said his nephew, a student of Class 10, was missing. He had left home with ₹1,000 to fill up the form for matric exams. "He is traceless."

Poonam, another resident, said that her aunt Geeta had gone to fetch ration from a village located on the other side of the river. She is missing.

Special Swachhata Campaign from October 2

RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR @New Delhi

TARGETS

- Reducing pendency in govt offices, field and outstation offices.
- Free 1.50 lakh office spaces of files
- Generate ₹400 crore revenue from scraps
- Promotion of environmental friendly practices in various departments

HOW IT WILL BE ACHIEVED

THE FILES IN OFFICES WOULD BE DIVIDED INTO A, B & C CATEGORIES BEFORE WEEDING THEM OUT

CAPACITY BUILDING

DIGITISATION AND EFFICIENT MANAGEMENT OF OFFICE SPACES

THE SPECIAL SWACHHATA CAMPAIGN IS SET TO BE 17 TIMES LARGER THAN THE EARLIER CAMPAIGNS

THE Union government will launch Swachhata Campaign 3.0 next month. The campaign during October 2-31 will not incur any expense. On the other hand, it will gain an estimated ₹400 crore.

Encouraged by the results and revenue earned from the previous two rounds of the campaign, the government has designed the third round of Swachhata Campaign to clear offices and other places in very methodical ways to create 'wealth from waste'.

As part of this pan-India campaign, pendency of files will be identified, all records rooms will be cleared and files will be handed out to individual sections to identify them in different categories — A,B and C — for cleaning or preserving them in digitised format. About 1.50 lakh cleanliness sites are set to be covered.

Union Minister of State for Personnel and Public Grievances, Jitendra Singh, said the Centre has launched the campaign with eye on creating 'wealth from waste'. He said that the third cleanliness drive will go even in the remotest of remote offices having a larger public interface.

He said the earlier two rounds of Swachhata campaign were mass movements. "Same administration, same officials, only the leadership was lacking. The Prime Minister turned the mission on hygiene and cleanliness into a 'Jan-Andolan' and become also a people's social reform movement," he said.

Swachhata campaign was first launched by PM Modi on August 15 in 2014.

Citing data, the minister said that over 90 per cent of file works in the Central government offices have been made online under the e-office portal and created massive spaces, giving a energising working ambience.

During this campaign, ministries and departments will identify the pendency in selected categories and finalise the campaign sites.

The Department of Administrative Reforms and Public Grievances (DARPG) has been made a nodal department for implementation of special campaign 3.0.

According to available data, since the conduct of the Swachhata campaign 2.0 in October 2022, the drive has been held at 1.37 lakh sites so far and a huge revenue running into ₹520 crore generated from scrap.

The Department of Administrative Reforms and Public Grievances has been appointed a nodal department for implementation of the Special Swachhata campaign 3.0.

Talks with Pak: Farooq proposes, BJP disposes

Saffron party advocates jail for those who want discussions to resume

FAYAZ WANI @Srinagar

A day after three top security officials were killed in an encounter in Kashmir, former J&K chief minister and National Conference president Farooq Abdullah on Thursday pitched for India-Pakistan dialogue for ending bloodshed and lasting peace in Jammu and Kashmir.

"This destruction has been going on here for a long time. I don't see its end. I don't see the end of encounters. Today ,we had an encounter in Rajouri and Kokernag. Encounters are taking place daily in Kashmir," Abdullah told reporters after visiting the family of slain deputy superintendent of police Himayun Bhat to express condolences.

Reacting to Abdullah's statement, BJP Kashmir spokesman Altaf Thakur said that time has come to put behind bars people who advocate dialogue with Pakistan on Kashmir.

"It is these people who advocate Pakistan's cause here and support it. India has held talks with Pakistan many times in the past but the neighbouring country always played foul," he said, adding that "terrorism and talks cannot go on simultaneously".

The NC leader said the government is shouting daily that militancy is over in Kashmir. "Now tell me, is militancy over? The militancy has not ended. They (government) are trying to fool people by claiming that militancy has ended. A path has to be found through which peace can be achieved. Peace cannot be achieved through a fight but it can come through talks," he said. He said India and Pakistan will have to talk. "Talking to me won't prove any help. The two countries, which have this problem, have to talk." The NC president believes that till India, Pakistan don't talk, these kinds of incidents (encounters) will continue to take place. "These will not end. We are fools if we think it can end".

"There is no other option other than holding talks with Pakistan. Both the countries should give up their rigidness and come on table for ending bloodshed and lasting peace in J&K," he said.

On the Centre saying that it wanted to reclaim PoK, Abdullah said, "Let them bring it back. If they think it can resolve the issue, then they should do it. However, I want to make it clear that wars have not solved any issue. Pakistan has fought four wars with India but the border is still there," he said.

Cong to come with list closer to elections

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bhopal

THE suspense continues over the ruling BJP's second list and Congress's first list of candidates for the upcoming assembly polls in Madhya Pradesh.

While the ruling BJP, which held its Central Election Committee) meeting in the national capital on Wednesday did not release its second list, the Congress leaders, including state party chief Kamal Nath, said that ' the list will be released at the appropriate time.'

The BJP sources said that the list was not released owing to the PM's visit to the state on Thursday and the second list of around 40 candidates could be out within two days.

Whereas, Congress sources said that the party's first list which could include 100-odd names might be released after September 25, ideally close to or after the poll code of conduct is implemented early next month.

"Whenever the first list is out, it would be a mixed list, comprising the 60-odd seats which the party has failed to win since the last many elections as well as the safest seats, where sitting MLAs aren't faced with anti-incumbency. Just wait and watch, the list would be out at the appropriate time," a senior MP Congress leader said.

As per sources, the Congress is particularly delaying the release of the list, after seeing the rebellion in the BJP out in the open, following early release of the first list of 39 candidates.

Massive combing ops launched, no trace of militants

FAYAZ WANI @Srinagar

A day after three top security officials were killed in an encounter, the Army and police on Thursday launched a massive search operation in the forest area of Gadole at Kokernag in Jammu and Kashmir. Drones, helicopters and new generation weapons and devices were pressed into service to track down Lashkar-e-Toiba militants involved in Wednesday's attack on troops.

"Our forces persist with unwavering resolve as they encircle 2 LeT terrorists, including Uzair Khan," police posted on X, formerly Twitter.

Uzair, who had joined militancy in July last year, is among the militants involved in Wednesday's encounter.

Throughout the day on Thursday, intermittent exchange of gunfire and explosions could be heard from the forest area of Gadole.

Colonel Manpreet Singh (Commanding Officer of 19 Rashtriya Rifles), Major Ashish Dhonchak and Deputy Superintendent of Police Humayun Bhat were killed in the gunfight with militants in forest area of Gadole after troops launched search operation to track down Lashkar militants hiding there on Wednesday morning.

Both the Army officers were decorated with Sena medal for their bravery in anti-militancy operations. Singh was awarded the medal in 2021, while Dhonchak was awarded the medal on August 15 this year.

After killing of the three security officials, GoC 15 Corps Lt-Gen Rajiv Ghai, GoC Victor Force and J&K DGP Dilbag Singh are supervising the anti-militancy operation. The Army pressed drones and helicopters into service to locate the exact position of the militants, who are said to be hiding in the cave-like hideouts in the forest area. The Army and police rushed more troops to the area.

Former J&K police chief S P Vaid said that he has got information that a local source came to the Army and police with information about a hideout of Pakistani militants and led the Colonel, Major and the DySP to the area. "This source was perhaps compromised and they were ambushed," he said.

The militant outfit, 'The Resistance Front', which is said to be a shadow group of LeT, has claimed responsibility for the encounter.

This is the biggest hit security forces have taken in anti-militancy operations in Kashmir since May 2020.

Ajmal throws weight behind INDIA alliance

Dhubri MP Maulana Badruddin Ajmal said his minority-based All India United Democratic Front would like to support the opposition bloc INDIA to defeat BJP-led NDA in the 2024 Lok Sabha elections. "We will ask our supporters to vote for INDIA. We are ready for any kind of sacrifice to ensure INDIA victory," Ajmal said. However, Congress has reservations against joining the AIUDF as it fears a possible attempt by the saffron camp to "polarise" the voters. "We had supported Congress in the last Lok Sabha elections in the Nagaon seat. Pradyut Bordoloi [of Congress] won," Ajmal said. Talking about the upcoming general elections, he said, AIUDF will contest three seats like the last time and win all three.

New mall to showcase national integration

The Assam government has decided to construct a "Unity Mall" in Guwahati at a cost of Rs 226 crore. The idea is to promote national integration, "One District, One Product" and carry forward the concept of "Make in India". The mall will have 35 showrooms for all states/Union Territories and as many showrooms for every district of Assam. The food courts will offer cuisines from all parts of India. According to the government, the mall will provide a platform for marketing of GI products of the state and promote "Made in Assam" products.

IPS officer among 6 cops held for extorting money

Recently, a CID team of Assam Police arrested over half a dozen cops, including an IPS officer and two Assam Police Service officers, for allegedly extorting money from a businessman from Bajali in western Assam. A huge amount of cash and 21 blank bank cheques which the businessman had "given to the cops" were recovered. Even as the inquiry into this case was on, another case surfaced of an Additional Superintendent of Police allegedly torturing her domestic help and going into hiding. Subhalakshmi Dutta, the accused, surrendered before the police later. She went into hiding after her domestic help Anima Praja had lodged a complaint with the police alleging that the officer tortured her and even tried to kill her.

Himanta wife threatens to sue Gogoi on subsidy

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Guwahati

ASSAM Chief Minister Himanta Biswa Sarma's wife Riniki Bhuyan Sharma threatened to file a ₹10 crore defamation suit against Congress MP Gaurav Gogoi for his claim that the Centre granted a subsidy of ₹10 crore to a firm, of which she is the Chief Managing Director.

"Pride East Entertainments Pvt Ltd is an independent entity since 2006 with business interests in varied sectors. It is a law-abiding company with all its financial records in the public domain. With a long and successful business track record, Pride East Entertainments Pvt Ltd like any other qualifying enterprise is eligible to participate in government supported programs/incentive schemes," she said.

However, in the present case pertaining to the PM Kisan Sampada Scheme, the firm neither claimed nor received any money of government subsidy, despite meeting the eligibility criteria, she added.

"This is nothing but an attack to defame a 17-year-old Assamese enterprise, which has adhered to every aspect of the law," Riniki said.

Manesar was in constant touch with other accused in killing of cousins: Cops

HARPREET BAJWA @Chandigarh

COW vigilante Monu Manesar reportedly played a crucial role in the double murder of cousin brothers — Nasir and Junaid — from Rajasthan and that he was in constant touch with more than 20 other accused in the case through WhatsApp, according to police.

During interrogation, it has been revealed that the attack on Nasir and Junaid was pre-planned and the accused had shared their travel plan and vehicle number through a WhatsApp group, police said. Manesar is an an active member of the said WhatsApp group.

WhatsApp chats show that Manesar was not just aware of the attack but also was contacted by other accused when the duo died, police said. He was in close contact with Rinku Saini, an accused who told cops that a gau rakshak had assured him not to panic even after the killing of the two. The attack on Nasir and Junaid was planned eight days before the killing. When the accused could not recover any bovine, they beat them, police said.

Manesar's arrest has created resentment among right-wing outfits which have accused Haryana Chief Minister Manohar Lal Khattar of betraying them for votes. There are reports that members of Bajrang Dal in Gurugram and Nuh have started quitting citing witch-hunting.

"We never thought that that BJP would succumb to the political pressure and arrest Monu Manesar who has always promoted cow safety. This is done by CM Khattar himself. The way they are focusing on Monu Manesar and Bittu Bajrangi, they should have focused on Mewat and the cow smugglers in that region," said Bharat Bhushan, state coordinator of Bajrang Dal, Haryana.

Breather: Raipur pips B'luru, Pune, Vizag in clean air survey, ranked 16

EJAZ KAISER @Raipur

CHHATTISGARH'S capital Raipur that stood nowhere on 'Swachh Vayu Sarvekshan' ranking last year brought in significant checks on its bad air quality, securing a rank 16 among 47 cities with a population of over 10 lakh in 2023.

Raipur's air quality index improved in just one year. It has left behind cities such Nagpur (18), Visakhapatnam (20), Kanpur (23), Lucknow (24), Bengaluru (25) and Pune (29). Raipur scored 169.5 out of 200 points in the survey by the Ministry of Environment, Forest and Climate Change in 2022.

The survey was conducted by the Central Pollution Control Board under National Clean Air Programme (NCAP).

"Awareness drive and public participation helped to improve air quality in the capital. Air pollution has effectively gone down, owing to result-driven roles by authorities and local bodies. More efforts will be directed towards targeted action on ensuring urban forest cover, better mitigation of road dust, check emissions, enhanced cleanliness drives with sustainable and productive waste management model," said Mayank Chaturvedi, commissioner of Raipur Municipal Corporation. The civic body authorities submitted its report on the best practices adopted under the eight different parameters specified under the NCAP.

'Swachh Vayu Survekshan' ranks cities on the basis of implementation of activities approved under city action plan and air quality in 131 NCAP cities, which is divided into three categories on the basis of their population — over 10 lakh (47 cities), between 3-10 lakh (44) and less than 3 lakh (40).

"The way the air quality of Raipur has improved is very encouraging. The coordinated efforts to control the air pollution through the action plan yielded better results," said Mayor Aijaz Dhebar.

The municipal corporation is soon going to operate electric buses as public transport, install electric vehicle charging stations, take up more plantation drives towards environment conservation, officials said.

Indore in the adjoining Madhya Pradesh secured the first rank, followed by Agra in Uttar Pradesh and Maharashtra's Thane stood at third position in the category of cities above 10 lakh population.

The bravehearts who fought till their last breath

HARPREET BAJWA @Chandigarh

JAGMEET Kaur, an economics teacher, with her two doting children Kabir Singh (6) and Banni Kaur (2) had just returned to Panchkula after spending time with her husband Col Manpreet Singh in Kashmir. She was devastated when the news came a fortnight later that Col Manpreet had been killed in gun battle with terrorists in Anantnag.

Col Manpreet Singh, commanding officer of 19 Rashtriya Rifles, was a third-generation Army officer. He was leading his troops from the front when he received critical gunshot wounds. In 2012, he was decorated with the Sena Medal for gallantry after he neutralised terrorists in J&K. Singh had spent almost five years with the same Rashtriya Rifles battalion, the first three as the second-in-command and then as the Commanding Officer. Singh was about to complete his tenure with Rashtriya Rifles in four months. He was recently honoured with a gallantry award by the Army. The colonel belonged to Bharaunjian village near Chandigarh in SAS Nagar district of Punjab. His grandfather and his two brothers were soldiers in the British troops. His father and his two cousins were soldiers too in the Indian Army .

Major Aashish Dhonchak

Col Manpreet Singh

A pall of gloom descended on his village in Panchakula. His body is expected on Friday and is likely to be cremated the same day. A large number of people are turning up to mourn the death. "The mortal remains of my son-in-law will reach tomorrow afternoon as the Army formalities take time," said Jagdev Singh Grewal.

Major Aashish Dhonchak

Major Aashish Dhonchak hailing from Panipat in Haryana too laid down his life fighting terrorists in Anantnag. He leaves behind a two-year-old daughter, wife and three sisters. He was planning to visit the family on his birthday next month. Dhonchak joined the India Army in 2013 and was the only brother of three sisters.

As the news of his death spread, villagers and neighbours rushed to his house in Sector 7 of Panipat. His uncle Dilwar Singh said, "We knew there was an operation under way. But we got the news of his death from my son who's also in the Army," Singh said.

"Everyone knows that Pakistan has waged a proxy war. Our Army should give a befitting reply once and for all, so that no mother has to mourn the loss of her son, no sister loses her brother again, no wife loses her husband and no child loses its father," an elderly man who lives in Dhonchak's neighborhood in Panipat said.

New U'khand police manual: No Urdu, only Hindi words in day-to-day work

NARENDRA SETHI @Dehradun

THE Uttarakhand Police has revised and published a 700-page police training manual replacing nearly 1,100 specific Urdu words in use for nearly 150 years with Hindi words for cases registered under the Indian Penal Code, CrPC and the Indian Evidence Act.

Police personnel will now report the cases and plead in the court in Hindi words.

Speaking to this newspaper, Inspector General of Police (Training) Kewal Khurana said, "Now the officers will not have to use complex words like 'Bamudiyat' (complainant), 'Tafseel' (descriptive incident), 'Naksha-Nazari' (place of incident) and 'Tazkara' (description written in police General Diary) in their day-to-day reporting. During the research, we found 1,100 such words, which even the old officers, with time stopped using".

Indian Penal Code, Code of Criminal Procedure, Evidence Act were introduced over 150 years and during those times, Urdu words were used during the report and trial of the crime, the senior police official said. However, with time, these words disappeared from school and college curricula and became difficult for the new recruits to memorise and use these words, the IG said. "Hereafter, the trainee officers will taught the use of Hindi words only as the Urdu words have been replaced," he added.

20 officers researched Urdu words in use

20 officers for over two and half months, researched Urdu words in use and replaced them with Hindi words in the revised vocabulary book. Significantly, the Urdu words used in the IPC since 1860 and the Indian Evidence Act since 1872 are in vogue, a language that the old generation of police officers had little knowledge of, but the new generation is completely unaware of.

New techniques needed to study UFO, says much-awaited NASA report

WASHINGTON

NASA said Thursday that the study of UFOs will require new scientific techniques, including advanced satellites as well as a shift in how unidentified flying objects are perceived.

The space agency released the findings after a yearlong study into UFOs.

In its 33-page report, an independent team commissioned by NASA cautioned that the negative perception surrounding UFOs poses an obstacle to collecting data. But officials said NASA's involvement should help reduce the stigma around what it calls UAPs, or unidentified anomalous phenomena.

NASA Administrator Bill Nelson said the agency wants to shift the conversation about UAPs "from sensationalism to science." Nelson added the panel found no evidence that UAPs had extraterrestrial origin.

Presenting the finds, NASA Administrator Bill Nelson said he believes there is other life out there, given the sheer number of stars and galaxies in the universe.

NASA Administrator Bill Nelson speaks at a press conference | AFP

The 16-member panel noted that artificial intelligence and machine learning are essential for identifying rare occurrences, including UFOs.

"NASA will do this transparently," Nelson said.

At the one and only public meeting earlier this year, the independent team selected by the space agency insisted there is no conclusive evidence of extraterrestrial life associated with UFOs. No top-secret files were accessed by the scientists, aviation and artificial intelligence experts, and retired NASA astronaut Scott Kelly, the first American to spend nearly a year in space. Instead, the 16-member group relied on unclassified data in an attempt to better understand unexplained sightings in the sky.

NASA said there are so few high-quality observations that no scientific conclusions can be drawn. The government refers to unexplained sightings as UAPs versus UFOs. NASA defines them as observations in the sky or elsewhere that cannot be readily identified or scientifically explained.

The study was launched a year ago and cost under $1,00,000. Agencies

Indian-origin Tharman sworn in as ninth president of Singapore

Vows to strengthen city-state's multiracialism and nurture more inclusive society

SINGAPORE

INDIAN-ORIGIN Singapore-born economist Tharman Shanmugaratnam, sworn in as the ninth president on Thursday, vowed to strengthen the city-state's multiracialism and nurture a more inclusive society with the "strong mandate" from the voters.

Indian-origin Chief Justice Sundaresh Menon administered the oath of office to President Tharman at a ceremony held at Istana. The Istana is the official residence of Singapore president.

The ceremony was attended by Prime Minister Lee Hsien Loong, members of the Cabinet, MPs, top civil servants and members of the diplomatic corps. Tharman, 66, will serve a six-year term. He succeeds President Halimah Yacob, Singapore's first female president. Speaking after taking the oath, President Tharman promised to work with the government, community groups, voluntary organisations and the entire nation to strengthen Singapore's multiracialism and nurture a more inclusive society, with the "strong mandate" voters gave him on September 1.

Tharman Shanmugaratnam will serve a six-year term | AP

He bagged 70.4% of the 2.48 million votes cast. "I will do my utmost to support initiatives that deepen the respect we accord to our fellow citizens, of all backgrounds and in every walk of life - the respect for all that is at the heart of our solidarity as Singaporeans," he said.

"I will be scrupulous and independent in making judgements that involve the use of the second key on our reserves whether in responding to the future crises that will come from time to time, or in ensuring Singapore remains a safe and liveable home over the longer term," he asserted.

In exercising his veto powers on the reserves and key public service appointments, he will confer closely with the Council of Presidential Advisers, and be thorough and impartial in his assessments, said Tharman. "Should the need arise in future to use the reserves to tackle such crises and existential threats, we will weigh the matter carefully," said Tharman.

"We will have to balance between meeting immediate needs and preserving the reserves so every generation, now and in the future, enjoy their benefits." Tharman said that as the non-partisan head of state, the President stands above the political fray, and can be a symbol of the nation, effective in uniting all Singaporeans, regardless of race, religion or other differences.

"As President, I will promote greater interactions between our different communities, even as we ensure the vibrance of our different cultures," he said. AFP

Kim to spend several days in Russia, extends invite to Putin to visit North

SEOUL

NORTH Korean leader Kim Jong Un was to tour a Russian aircraft plant that builds fighter jets and then visit the country's Pacific Fleet, but his exact whereabouts remained uncertain, as South Korea on Thursday expressed "deep concern and regret" that his visit has focused so far on expanding military cooperation.

Washington has warned that the summit on Wednesday between Kim and Russian President Vladimir Putin could lead to a deal for North Korea to supply ammunition for Moscow's war in Ukraine. There's widespread concern in Seoul that North Korea in return would receive advanced weapons technologies from Russia, including those related to military spy satellites, which would increase the threat posed by Kim's military nuclear programme.

"We express our deep concern and regret that despite repeated warnings from the international community, North Korea and Russia discussed military cooperation issues, including satellite development, during their summit," said Lim Soo-suk, South Korea's Foreign Ministry spokesperson.

"Any science and technology cooperation that contributes to nuclear weapons and missile development, including satellite systems that involve ballistic missile technologies, runs against UN Security Council resolutions," he said.

Lim also pointed out that Kim's delegation in Russia includes several people sanctioned by the Security Council over involvement in illicit North Korean weapons development activities, including Korean People's Army Marshal Ri Pyong Chol and Jo Chun Yong, a ruling party official who handles munitions policies. Lim said Moscow should realize there will be "very negative impacts" on its relations with Seoul if it proceeds with cooperation with North.

South Korean Unification Minister Kim Yung-ho, who handles affairs with North Korea, warned that potential arms transfers between the North and Russia would invite stronger responses from South Korea, the United States and Japan, which have been stepping up their trilateral security cooperation. AFP

US assures action over death of Indian girl

WASHINGTON

THE Biden administration has assured the Indian government of a quick investigation into the horrific death of Indian student Jaahnavi Kandula in Seattle after being struck by a speeding police patrol car and bringing to justice the police officers who were responsible.

The US government swung into action after India's Ambassador to the US, Taranjit Singh Sandhu, strongly raised the issue at the highest level in Washington and sought prompt action on the killing of Kandula.

Kandula, 23, was killed in January after she was struck by a police vehicle driven by Officer Kevin Dave. He was driving more than 119 kmph on the way to a report of an overdose, the Seattle Times reported.

Kandula was in the crosswalk and was thrown 100 feet when she was struck by the police patrol car on January 23.

In bodycam footage released on Monday by the Seattle Police Department, Officer Daniel Auderer laughed about the crash.

In the footage, Auderer, the vice president of the Seattle Police Officers Guild, was on a call with the guild's president, Mike Solan. He laughed several times, saying at one point, "Yeah, just write a cheque. Eleven thousand dollars. She was 26 anyway," Auderer said in the video, misstating Kandula's age. "She had limited value," he was heard saying. Auderer can be heard saying that he doesn't believe she was even thrown 40 feet. "But she is dead," he said, laughing. PTI

Whole families drowned in minutes in Libyan city

DERNA

THE wall of water several stories high smashed into apartment buildings, drowning entire families in minutes.

One man, Fadellalah, believes 13 members of his extended family died. He's yet to hear about the fate of another 20, several days after two dams burst upstream of the Libyan coastal city of Derna, unleashing epic floods that wiped out neighbourhoods and sent some of the dead into sea.

Thousands of others like him are frantically trying to find out who survived the rain-swollen rampage.

As a powerful storm bore down on his hometown, Fadellalah, an information technology worker in Libya's capital of Tripoli, called his family Sunday to urge them to move to higher ground.

"No one expected this," said Fadelallah, who asked that his surname not be used because he fears reprisal from government officials and armed groups who could view his story as criticism of their efforts.

"'Some of them didn't have cars. They didn't have a way to get out," he said Wednesday of his family.

Torrential rainwater that gushed down steep mountainsides and into the city killed thousands. Those who survived recount nightmarish scenes, with bodies piling up quicker than authorities can count them. The devastating floods have killed at least 5,100 people, a health official said.

Mediterranean storm Daniel caused deadly flooding in many towns of eastern Libya. But Derna, renowned for its white villas and palm trees, was the worst-hit. The city had no evacuation plans, and residents said the only warning was the explosive sound of the dams rupturing. AFP

BIDEN'S SON HUNTER INDICTED FOR BUYING GUN WHEN HE WAS ON DRUGS

WASHINGTON

US President Joe Biden's son Hunter was indicted on Thursday for illegally buying a gun when he was using drugs, casting a new shadow over his father's campaign for re-election. Hunter Biden was charged with two counts of making false statements when claiming on forms required for the 2018 gun purchase that he was not using drugs illegally.

A third charge said that, based on the false statements, he illegally possessed the gun during an 11-day period in October that year.

If convicted on all three charges, Biden could in theory face 25 years in prison, though in practice the charges are seldom punished by any jail time. In attesting that he was not an unlawful user of drugs at the time he bought the Colt Cobra revolver, Biden "knew that statement was false," the Justice Department said.

The indictment came two days after Republicans in Congress opened an impeachment probe against Joe Biden, alleging that when he was vice president he benefitted financially from his son's foreign business dealings. The gun charges were filed by Justice Department Special Counsel David Weiss, who has been investigating Biden since 2018 over various allegations, mostly related to his overseas business deals.

Hunter Biden

Two months ago a plea deal between Biden and Weiss, covering the gun charge as well as alleged tax violations, went sour over differences of whether the president's son could face additional charges.

In the July deal, Biden, 53, agreed to plea guilty in federal court in Delaware to two minor tax charges. In exchange he was offered probation, as he had already paid what he owed the government along with penalties. In the same deal, Weiss agreed to suspend the felony gun charge if Biden completed "pretrial diversion," which often involves counseling or rehabilitation. But in a dramatic July 26 hearing, the deal collapsed over the issue of whether Biden would have been immune from any other charges also investigated by Weiss, including possible crimes related to his business dealings in Ukraine, China and elsewhere. AFP

Zee-Sony merger: Axis Fin challenges NCLT nod

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Mumbai

AXIS Finance, the NBFC arm of Axis Bank, has filed an appeal in the National Company Law Appellate Tribunal (NCLAT) against the National Company Law Tribunal's (NCLT) decision to approve the merger of Zee Entertainment Enterprise (ZEEL) and Sony. On August 10, the NCLT cleared the merger of ZEEL and Sony dismissing all objections raised by several lenders of ZEEL including Axis Finance and IDBI Bank. Earlier, IDBI Bank had approached the appellate tribunal to challenge the NCLT's approval for Sony-Zee merger.

ZEEL is merging with rival Culver Max Entertainment Pvt Ltd, formerly known as Sony Pictures Networks India, which will create India's biggest media empire. The merger was announced in 2021 and got the goahead from the Competition Commission of India (CCI) in 2022. It has also received a nod from the stock exchanges.

As per the terms, Sony will hold a 50.86% stake in the merged entity. The promoters of Zee will hold 3.99% and other Zee shareholders 45.15%.

RBI tightens norms for 15 large NBFCs

LIC Housing Finance, Bajaj Finance, Shriram Finance, and Tata Sons figure in the list

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

THE Reserve Bank of India (RBI) said on Thursday that 15 large non-banking financial companies (NBFCs), including LIC Housing Finance, Bajaj Finance, Shriram Finance, and Tata Sons, will be subject to enhanced regulatory requirements. RBI has categorised NBFCs into Base Layer (NBFC-BL), Middle Layer (NBFC-ML), Upper Layer (NBFC-UL), and Top Layer (NBFC-TL). It released a list of 15 large NBFCs falling in the Upper Layer category.

Others in the list include L&T Finance, Piramal Capital & Housing Finance, Cholamandalam Investment, and Finance Company.Indiabulls Housing Finance, Mahindra & Mahindra Financial Services, Tata Capital Financial Services, PNB Housing Finance, HDB Financial Services, Aditya Birla Finance, Muthoot Finance, and Bajaj Housing are also part of the list.

According to RBI, despite qualifying for identification as NBFC-UL as per scoring methodology, TMF Business Services (formerly Tata Motors Finance Ltd) is not included in the list of NBFC-UL in the current review due to its ongoing business reorganisation.

There is a prescribed methodology to identify the NBFCs in the Upper Layer as per their asset size and scoring methodology. In terms of the 'Scale Based Regulation (SBR): A Revised Regulatory Framework for NBFCs' issued in October 2021, once an NBFC is classified as NBFC-UL, it will be subject to enhanced regulatory requirement. This will be for at least for a period of five years from its classification in the layer, even in case it does not meet the parametric criteria in the subsequent years.

Tata Motors to set up exclusive retail network

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

HOMEGROWN auto-major Tata Motors is planning to set up a distinct retail network for its electric passenger vehicles (EVs) in the current financial year as it wants to offer a specialised experience to customers opting for the green models.

"We need to separate outlets because there would not be enough space to keep both EVs, ICE models at the same place... So there's a practical difficulty... we will not be able to do justice to both. So you will start seeing exclusive outlets starting slowly from the coming quarters," said Shailesh Chandra, managing director, Tata Passenger Electric Mobility.

Besides having a separate retail outlet, Tata Motors is also exploring the idea of exporting its electric vehicles to foreign markets. At present, Tata Motors dominates India's electric car market with a segment share of about 80%.

Tata Motors has launched the new Nexon EV facelift with a starting price of ₹14.74L

Tata Motors currently has a pan-India presence for its internal combustion engine (ICE) passenger vehicles through which it also sells retail EVs. Chandra said the rollout of new EV outlets would be in small and big cities, depending on its current network of dealerships.

"We'll start with pilot cities. I can't disclose the locations right now. But as I said within this financial year, we'll start with some experiment," he stated. Tata Motors' current EV portfolio comprises the flagship SUV Nexon EV range, Tiago EV, Tigor EV and the XPRES-T EV. The company aims to have 10 EV models in its line-up in the next 2-3 years.

Tata Motors on Thursday launched the facelift of Nexon EV. The new Nexon.ev is priced between ₹14.74-19.94 lakh (ex-showroom). It comes with a maximum range of 465 km in a single charge and has a host of new features such as vehicle-to-vehicle charging and vehicle-to-load technology which allows the vehicle to act like a power ban.

Tata also launched the updated Nexon with petrol and diesel engines. The ICE models come at introductory prices starting from ₹8.09 lakh (ex-showroom).

Chandra said the demand for EVs is witnessing an upward trend and for Tata Motors, the EV range accounts for 13-15% of the company's overall sales. "Revenue wise it will be 18-20% as of quarter one. Next three to four years I would imagine this to go up to 25%," he added.

Change logistics performance index methodology, India tells World Bank

DIPAK MONDAL @ New Delhi

INDIA improved its ranking in the World Bank's Logistics Performance Index by jumping six places to 38 out of 139 countries in 2023 from the 44th slot in 2018. However, the government is not happy with the way the ranking is done as it doesn't include many recent reforms undertaken by India such as the PM Gati Shakti, Unified Logistics Interface Platform, and Logistics Data Bank.

The World Bank's ranking is based on six parameters — customs, infrastructure, internal shipment, logistics competence, tracking and tracing, and timelines.

India believes the performance on these parameters is judged purely on the perception of a small sample of people in the freight business. "That is a very narrow way of ranking India on an important global index," said an official.

> We want our rankings to improve and our ranking improves only when there is realistic and factual reflection of the kind of reforms that have happened here
>
> DPIIT official

The government has been pushing the World Bank to include more 'objective' parameters to reflect the reforms undertaken by India in the last couple of years in the logistics space.

Sources told TNIE that Rajesh Kumar Singh, secretary, Department of Promotion of Industries and Internal Trade (DPIIT), met World Bank officials during his visit to the US in June and presented India's case for change in the ranking methodology.

India wants to improve rankings in logistics performance to break into the Top 25 by 2030. "Ever since the logistics policy has set the target of top 25 ranking, we have become more aware of meeting that target," said the official.

The government also feels the need for developing an accurate estimate of the logistics cost in India. It does not agree with the 13% (of GDP) logistics cost estimate made by an international agency Armstrong & Armstrong. The government has already developed a long-term survey-based framework for logistics cost calculation, and the result of the same will be revealed soon.

Cognizant to pay DDT, says tribunal

MONIKA YADAV @ New Delhi

IN a setback to Cognizant Technology Solutions, the Income Tax Appellate Tribunal has ordered it to pay dividend distribution tax (DDT) on ₹19,080-crore share buyback in assessment year 2017-18.

During the assessment year 2017-18, Cognizant bought 94,00,534 equity shares from its shareholders in the US and Mauritius at ₹20,297 per share, totalling ₹19,080 crore. The Chennai ITAT in an order dated 13 September held that this repurchase, carried out through a scheme sanctioned by the court under sections 391-393 of the Companies Act, 1956, amounted to the distribution of accumulated profits, and therefore is deemed dividend under the Income Tax Act.

The ITAT rejected the Assessee's argument that the court-approved scheme provided immunity from taxation, citing the Gujarat High Court and Supreme Court rulings as irrelevant. The ITAT also noted that while the court's approval was binding, it did not grant immunity from tax obligations.

The ITAT upheld the decision of the Commissioner of Income Tax (Appeals) to consider the transactions as dividends.

DESI GPS

Govt plans to make NavIC mandatory for auto sector

RAKESH KUMAR @ New Delhi

THE government is planning to mandate India-made NavIC (Navigation with Indian Constellation) system in the future for the automotive industry, said the minister of state for Electronics and Information Technology Rajeev Chandrasekhar on Thursday.

The government, he said, will incentivise mobile manufacturers to adopt NavIC, the desi Global Positioning System (GPS), developed by Indian Space Research Organisation (ISRO).

US tech-giant Apple has incorporated NavIC in iPhone 15 pro series for location-based services. "It is for the first time the iPhone 15 has integrated NavIC amongst the other six global positioning system solutions that are available," he said.

Chandrashekar informed that NavIC chips are being manufactured by a startup called Accord. The company has already manufactured over 1 million NavIC chips in 28 nanometers that are used in the automotive industry.

"Increasingly, we will make it mandatory, as in the automobile segment, that all the devices that use GPS use the NavIC chipsets," Chandrasekhar.

NavIC is designed with a constellation of seven satellites and a network of ground stations operating 24x7. It provides coverage of India and the neighbouring areas, including the Indian Ocean. Other navigation systems include the United States' GPS, Russia's Global Navigation Satellite System (GLONASS), the European Union's Galileo, China's BeiDou, and Japan's Quasi-Zenith Satellite System (QZSS).

When the chip is developed for the mobile grid, the government will start incentivising mobile manufacturers to use them.

Standard pratice

"We're planning to make it a standard practice that all devices using GPS should have NavIC-powered chipsets or NavIC chips inside. When you look at the IT PLI scheme this time, it includes incentives for system designers and manufacturers who incorporate Indian-designed chips into their products," said Chandrasekhar.

14-day judicial custody for Naresh Goyal

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

IN growing trouble for Jet Airways founder Naresh Goyal, a special PMLA court in Mumbai on Thursday extended the judicial custody of the businessman by 14 days in a money laundering case linked to an alleged fraud of ₹538 crore at the Canara Bank.

The Enforcement Directorate) had arrested Goyal on September 1 following a long session of questioning at the central agency's office. Goyal, 74, was produced before the special judge for cases under PMLA, MG Deshspande, at the end of his ED remand on Thursday. The court remanded him in judicial custody as no further remand was sought by the probe agency.

Later, Goyal moved an application saying he suffers from a host of health issues and requested that he be allowed to undergo daily medical checkups by his family physician, specialist consulting doctors and personal doctors, and be provided with medical facilities on a regular basis during his stay in the jail.

The court has asked the prosecution to file its say on Goyal's applications.

The case in which Goyal is facing custody is based on an FIR registered by the Central Bureau of Investigation (CBI) in May this year. The FIR was registered on the bank's complaint which alleged that it sanctioned credit and loans to Jet Airways (India) Ltd to the tune of ₹848.86 crore of which ₹538.62 crore was outstanding.

Grasim's paint business called 'Birla Opus'

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

GRASIM Industries Limited, a flagship company of the Aditya Birla Group, on Thursday unveiled the brand name of its paints business, 'Birla Opus'. The market launch of Birla Opus is scheduled for the fourth quarter of FY24.

Grasim said that it will offer a full suite of high-quality products in the decorative paints segment. It had previously committed an investment of ₹10,000 crore towards setting up the paints business. The company's state-of-the-art manufacturing plants located in Haryana, Punjab, Tamil Nadu, Karnataka, Maharashtra, and West Bengal, will have a total capacity of 1,332 million litres per annum, and will serve demand centres across the country. The current estimated value of India's decorative paints industry is ₹70,000 crore. The paints industry is witnessing double digit growth year-on-year driven by rising consumer aspirations and the government's push towards 'Housing for All'. At present, Mumbai-based Asian Paints is country's largest player in the decorative paint business.

Kumar Mangalam Birla, Chairman, Aditya Birla Group said, "Our foray into decorative paints is a strategic portfolio choice that enables us to tap into a high-growth market and expand our presence in the vibrant Indian consumer landscape."

Banks' asset quality may improve to 3% by March 2024: ICRA

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Mumbai

CREDIT ratings agency ICRA expects the gross non-performing assets (GNPAs) and net NPAs (NNPAs) of banks to decline to 2.8-3% and 0.8-0.9% , respectively, by March 2024 from 3.96% and 0.97%, respectively, as on March 31, 2023, which would remain the best in more than a decade. But ICRA remains cautious about the impact of macro-economic shocks on the asset quality, if these were to materialise.

ICRA continues to maintain a positive outlook on the banking sector on the expectation that credit growth would remain strong, thereby driving earnings growth.

It expects credit growth of 12.1% to 13.2% , with incremental credit expansion at ₹16.5 lakh crore to ₹18 lakh crore in the current financial year ending March 2024.

"Credit growth remains robust despite some moderation. Even at the anticipated pace of growth for FY2024, incremental credit expansion would be the second highest ever at ₹16.5-18.0 trillion, next only to the record level of ₹18.2 trillion (+15.4 percent) last year," said Anil Gupta, Senior Vice President & Co-Group head, ICRA. Credit costs are estimated to remain at 1.0 percent of advances in FY2024, in line with FY2023. This should allow banks to comfortably withstand a compression of 20-25 bps in the interest margins, which would lead to a mild moderation in the return on assets (RoA) to 1.0 percent in FY2024 from 1.1 percent in FY2023. At these levels, the RoE would remain healthy at 13.0-13.1 percent in FY2024 against 13.8 percent in FY2023.

Furthermore, supported by internal capital generation and lower NNPA levels, the capitalisation and solvency profiles of private and public sector banks would remain comfortable. ICRA projects the Tier-I capital of the banking sector at 14.6-14.7 percent (14.4 percent as of March 2023) and an improvement in the solvency levels to 7% by March 2024.

Over the last decade, retail credit growth remained buoyant and a key driver of overall credit expansion. As retail growth outpaced other segments, its share in bank credit rose to 32% as on March 31, 2023 from 18% in March 2013. The corporate book witnessed underperformance of late, including weaker asset quality levels and muted expansion, resulting in slower growth trends relative to the retail segment.

Risk of farm loan waivers

With general elections coming up next year, there is a risk of farm loan waivers, especially in light of deficit monsoon, which needs to be monitored, said Anil Gupta, co-group head, ICRA, adding that its estimates do not include the impact of the deficient rains

CLW creates another 'Make in India' record in locomotive production

CLW creates another 'Make in India' record in locomotive production. Despite post COVID challenges which put the supply chain of global chip manufacturing out of gear, the Chittaranjan Locomotive Works (CLW) - the first locomotive manufacturing factory of Indian Railways is breaking all the previous manufacturing records. The Production Unit of the national transporter accelerated its production to a record level this year. According to the details shared, Chittaranjan Locomotive Works produced as many as 250 electric locomotive in 134 working days, as against 183 days last year. This factory took up the challenge of manufacturing of 540 locomotives ordered by Railway Board against previous out turn of 436 Locomotives in 2022-23.CLW set its priority and accelerated the manufacturing to 55 locomotives in June, 65 in July and 57 in August setting new records every month from 67 locomotives produced in first two months. The production of Locomotives up to August is 244 which 41% higher compared to 173 produced by same time previous year.

North Korea's sporting isolation at Asiad to end

North Korea has 191 athletes signed up for the Asian Games starting next week, according to organisers, suggesting the country is poised to end its more than three-year isolation from global sporting arena. North Koreans are listed to compete in the Chinese city of Hangzhou in sports including athletics, gymnastics, basketball, football, boxing and weightlifting.

Focused Manpreet ready for Asian Games challenge

SWAROOP SWAMINATHAN
@Chennai

THERE was a time when Manpreet Singh was still considered as a young tyro at the heart of India's midfield. These days, he's the elder statesman, the oil that keeps the engine going. In an interview with this daily ahead of the Asian Games, he looks at the way he has evolved over the last decade, his place in the side and playing under new coach, Craig Fulton. Excerpts:

On the last few months and the lead up to the Asiad

It has been a month since winning the Asian Champions Trophy. But now that we are all back in the camp (at Bengaluru), our mindset is very different. Our main focus is Asian Games and that will be very different when compared to the ACT as every team will be looking to qualify for Paris. We need to change our mindset accordingly.

On his mindset

To be honest, I have seen a lot of ups and downs. I have been part of this team since 2011. We won the Asian Games in 2014 and won bronze in 2018. As a group of senior players, we talked about the hurdles we went through in the Asian Games with other players from the team. To make them aware of what could be the environment at the Asian Games, or what could potentially distract us. (We discuss this) to make them ready for the challenge...

On the message he says to the youngsters

We have talked about not being under a lot of pressure. Players need to be in their zone while focusing on their basics and game plan. There are going to be things that could distract a player. There will be many athletes from other sports in the village, but you need to keep that aside and keep focusing on the target. Sometimes you will have to play against the lower-ranked teams, other times you might have to play against the best teams as well. In these situations, we need to keep ourselves ready.

Coming to the skills aspect, going from Graham Reid to Fulton...

It has not been that difficult. Everyone knows that Indian players have skills. Now, it's about utilizing them. We were good at attack, counter-attack, and penalty corners before, and we are focusing on the same areas under Craig as well. Craig also wants us to play like a team and not like individuals. He also believes in the 'defend to win' approach. It shouldn't happen that we are scoring a goal and conceding one at the same time. If we defend well, then only we can go ahead with the attack. He is friendly with the players as well. You can openly discuss your thoughts with him whether it's game-related or off the field.

On how he interprets his role under Fulton

It's not that difficult for me whether I play defender or in midfield. I am always ready to play where my coach wants me to play and I will give my 100%. I enjoy every position I play. Hockey is my passion so, I don't focus on these positions when I am on the ground. I try to fulfill whatever role is assigned to me at the given time. Before Craig came in when we were playing the Pro-League matches in Rourkela, I was playing as a defender. Once he started, he asked to join midfield and join the attack to feed the balls. Because I have been playing as a midfielder for the longest time, he must have thought that I was fit for the role. Both of them told me to feed balls. Every player has their own pattern of playing and neither one tried to change anything about my style. They suggested I should add a few aspects to my game. Like me, Hardik and Vivek are in the defensive midfield, so we have a pretty good understanding amongst themselves. If one is going into attack mode, others should move to defense. Both coaches wanted us to play with freedom. Even when we are attacking or defending, we should play like a team.

On whether he misses captaincy

Not really. Harman (Harmanpreet Singh) is really doing well. Being a captain or not doesn't really matter to me because I always want to give my best to the team. Hockey is a team game, so along with Harman, everyone needs to take responsibility. I am happy where I am at and I will give my best to the team.

22 new athletes added to updated contingent

NEW DELHI: Ministry of Youth Affairs and Sports (MYAS) on Thursday released a revised list of the contingent (921 members) for the upcoming Asian Games and it has added a total of 22 new athletes to the existing list and made changes for 25 members in the contingent (Athletes/coaches or support staff). The list has now added Modern Pentathlon, increasing India's participation to a total of 39 sporting disciplines.

Changes in playing XI on cards as Iyer returns to nets

FIROZ MIRZA @Colombo

BACK spasm during the morning warm-up session meant Shreyas Iyer had to sit out of India's Super Four match against Pakistan on Sunday. In his absence, wicketkeeper-batter KL Rahul made it to the playing XI and hit a century on his return to international cricket.

Ahead of India's clash against Sri Lanka on Tuesday, the BCCI said Iyer is feeling better but is yet to fully recover from back spasm. "He has been advised rest by the BCCI medical team and has not travelled with the team to the stadium for India's Super Four match against Sri Lanka," the BCCI posted on a social media platform.

The Mumbai batter has apparently not trained with the team in the nets since Sunday. So when a few members of the team reached the R Premadasa Stadium here in Colombo on Thursday for the optional training session, all eyes were on the Mumbai batter. What made fresh injury scary is the fact that Iyer had been out of the national fold since March due to a back issue. He eventually underwent a surgery in April and had to miss the entire IPL season due to it. The Asia Cup was his comeback tournament but he could bat only in a match against Pakistan (versus Nepal he did not bat) before missing out on the action. Apart from him, Shardul Thakur, Tilak Varma, Ravindra Jadeja and Suryakumar Yadav also attended the session but it was Iyer who grabbed the eyeballs through the 90-minute session. The middle-order batter did jogging for some time before sprinting. He then had throwdowns and also faced a few net bowlers. During his stint, he looked comfortable as he leaned forward and moved backward apart from transferring his weight on back foot.

While head coach Rahul Dravid, bowling coach Paras Mhambrey and fielding coach T Dilip and other support staff were attending the session, it was batting coach Vikram Rathour who was keeping a close watch on Iyer. At moments, he even applauded the batter while feeding balls to him. With indications coming from a support staff, there looks a possibility of a few changes being made in the Indian playing XI against Bangladesh on Friday.

Can B'desh punch above weight?

As India take on Bangladesh in their last Super Four game, a look...

WILL ROHIT CONVERT HIS START?

Skipper Rohit Sharma has been scoring runs in the last couple of games, but he himself hasn't scored a hundred in a while. And while the middle-order has been building on his starts, Rohit would want to get a big one next to his name.

KOHLI V SHAKIB

Although Virat Kohli is on a stellar run, on Friday he will be up against an adversary in Shakib Al Hasan. The India No. 3 averages only 28 against the left-arm spinner and has gotten out to him five times in 11 innings. Who will come out on top this time around?

COLOMBO

SINCE the start of 2023, India have played 16 ODIs winning 12, losing three and one ending in a no-result. Nine of them were played at home with the hosts winning seven. Given their strong batting line-up, they had posted more than 300 runs six times with their highest total being 390/5 against visiting Sri Lanka in Thiruvananthapuram back in January.

Despite it mostly being batting friendly pitches and conditions, India bowlers played an equally important role in these wins as they bowled out opponents 12 out of 16 times. Be it pacers or spinners, the Indian bowlers had worked as a team to keep a check on batters and prevented them from running away with the match on most of the occasions.

Given their show this year, India bowling coach Paras Mhambrey was a happy man ahead of India's last Super Four match against Bangladesh at the 2023 Asia Cup here at R Premadasa Stadium, Colombo on Thursday. "Problem of plenty is always good," was his response when asked whether it's difficult to choose from so many available options during a press conference. "We have been following (Jasprit) Bumrah's progress from the National Cricket Academy and we have been very happy with the report that we have got. We have four quality bowlers out there. We have covered different aspects skill wise. Like Mohammed Shami brings a different skill, Prasidh (Krishna) brings a different skill, Bumrah is special. The option of choosing the right combination will depend on what surface we are playing and what opponents we are playing," he said.

India had bowled out all of their opponents at the ongoing continental tournament except in their opener against Pakistan which was washed out. In the match against Sri Lanka, they defended a modest total of 213 as they wrapped up co-hosts' innings for 172 in 41.3 overs.

HUNTING AS A PACK

Indian bowlers have bundled out their opponents for 12 out of 16 innings this year

INDIA'S RECORD SINCE 2023

Mat	Won	Lost	N/R	Opponents bowled out	Opponents Not bowled out
16	12	3	1	12	4

Their Super Four match against arch-rivals turned out to be a one-sided affair with the batters including Virat Kohli and KL Rahul slamming a century each while bowlers bundling out Pakistan for 128 runs in 32 overs. Against Nepal in their Group A match, the bowlers dismissed batters for 230 runs in 48.2 overs. With the ODI World Cup less than a month away, the bowling coach feels the Indian bowlers are an experienced lot and have the ability to adapt according to various situations. "First thing is that the amount of cricket these pacers have played, I don't think I need to tell them anything. They are very experienced and have the ability to read the pitch and understand the situation. Like Bumrah bowled that day (against Sri Lanka). Every bowler decides how to bowl looking at conditions. Initially, he bowled with pace but we believed variations can work. So everyone understands that. All of them are experienced so that they don't need to be told something. We discuss what options can be given. From a coaching perspective, I give them options. What options they need depending on the situation an individual decides. They have played a lot together. There is good communication among them so it makes my work easy."

The former India player, however, admitted it's very difficult to drop a pacer like Mohammed Shami given the amount of experience he has in international cricket. "It's never easy to have that kind of a conversation but I think we are clearly the way we have gone about the conversation with the players and the confidence they have shown us and any decision that we have taken the player knows."

Asalanka Sri Lanka, final against India

FIROZ MIRZA @ Colombo

IT'S almost an hour into Friday. Both Pakistan and Sri Lanka have been fighting back and forth for several hours at the R Premadasa Stadium in Colombo, amidst several rain interruptions, for a place in the final of the ongoing Asia Cup where the winner will face India on Sunday.

Mohammad Rizwan had scored unbeaten 86 to take Pakistan to 252/7 in 42 overs. Kusal Mendis fought back with 91 runs from 87 balls, but Shaheen took back-to-back wickets in the penultimate over. It all came down to debutant Zaman Khan versus Charith Asalanka on the final delivery. Sri Lanka needed two runs in one ball with a packed crowd cheering on. Asalanka (49 n.o) held his nerve to flick the pacer and take the home side across the line, bringing the R Premadasa Stadium with the roar of the home fans.

Zaman, who was in the thick of things, was playing domestic cricket in Pakistan when talent scouts from Lahore Qalandars, a Pakistan Super League (PSL) franchise, first saw him last year. He was immediately drafted into the players development programme (PDP) so that the talent could be polished and unleashed onto the world. Hailing from Mirpur in Pakistan Occupied Kashmir (POK), the right-arm pacer had played in the Kashmir League a year before. "We saw him in the domestic tournaments and immediately realised his potential. He was drafted into the PDP and he delivered in the first year as he helped us win the PSL title for the first time last year," Waqas Ahmed, bowling coach of Lahore Qalandars told this daily.

Charith Asalanka

Earlier, Pakistan Cricket Board (PCB) had announced on Wednesday that Zaman will replace injured Naseem Shah in the squad. A shoulder injury has ruled Naseem out of the tournament. "He hails from a very modest family. His father and other relatives were daily wage labourers. They didn't even have a proper house. They used to live in a hut but once he helped Lahore Qalandars win the PSL title, we got a house constructed for him," he added.

Brief scores: Pakistan 252/7 in 42 ovs (Rizwan 86 n.o; Pathirana 3/64) lost to SL 252/8 in 42 ovs (Mendis 91, Asalanka 49 n.o).

Simran-Ritika pair enters quarterfinals

HO CHI MINH CITY: Talented women's doubles pair of Simran Singhi and Ritika Thaker kept India's flag fluttering at the Vietnam Open Super 100 badminton tournament by progressing to the quarterfinals here on Thursday. Simran and Ritika, seeded third, beat Malaysian pair of Lee Zhi Qing and Desiree Hao Shan Siow 21-10 21-18 in the second round to set up a clash with Chinese Taipei's Jiang Yi-Hua and Li Zi Qing.

Indian challenge ends in Hong Kong Open

KOWLOON (HONG KONG): India's challenge at the Hong Kong Open Super 500 tournament ended after two women's doubles pairs lost in the pre-quarterfinals here on Thursday. The first Indian combination to take the court was Treesa Jolly and Gayatri Gopichand, who were no match for seventh seeds Apriyani Rahayu and Siti Fadia Silva Ranadhanti of Indonesia, losing 8-21 14-21 in just 36 minutes.

CA's introduce mandatory neck guard rule

MELBOURNE: Veteran batters Steven Smith and David Warner could be forced to wear neck guards as Cricket Australia has made it mandatory for international and domestic players to do so from October 1. Under the new playing conditions for 2023-24, every Australian player will be required to wear neck protectors fixed or fitted to the rear of helmets when facing fast or medium pace bowling in all CA-sanctioned competitions. The regulation update came a week after all-rounder Cameron Green was struck by a Kagiso Rabada bouncer on the neck guard and substituted out of the first ODI against South Africa.

Davis Cup: Indian team sweats it out

AGENCIES @ Lucknow

SWEATING profusely Rohan Bopanna says, "If I am sweating and changing my T-shirt during a training session, something is seriously wrong."

If Thursday's training session is an indication of what lies ahead for the Indian Davis Cup team in the World Group II tie against Morocco, it will not be an exaggeration to say that more than the rivals it's going to be the treacherous conditions that will test the fitness of the home players. The severe humidity has turned the Mini Stadium into a 'mini cauldron'. Bopanna's teammates know well that he does not sweat much, not even in hot and humid conditions of Chennai.

To drive home his point, the 43-year-old told PTI, "For the first time in 20 years, Bopanna is sweating. That means it's humid. I played five sets against Brazil in a singles match for four hours in one shirt, but here in half-an-hour (I am changing), it's not right." Yuki Bhambri and Saketh Myneni swiftly looked for a shade after playing a few points and Ramkumar Ramanathan asked the team physio, Yash Pandey, to quickly hand him a gatorade drink. "I want to stay hydrated," he tells Pandey. The temperature is only 33 degrees, but it feels like 43. It had rained a few days back in the city, causing such conditions. Though the sun is not harsh, humidity is making it extremely hard for the players. The heat coming off the court is also making the conditions worse.

Canada beat Italy

BOLOGNA: Canada started the defense of its Davis Cup title by beating Italy 3-0 in the group stage of the finals, with the United States, Britain and the Czech Republic also winning. Alexis Galarneau beat Lorenzo Sonego 7-6 (8), 6-4 before Gabriel Diallo also won in straight sets ' 7-5, 6-4 ' against Lorenzo Musetti to assure victory for the Canadians in the Unipol Arena in Bologna. Galarneau then teamed up with Vasek Pospisil to win the doubles match, too.

Wrestler Vinesh gets TOPS nod for rehab equipment

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Chennai

THE ad-hoc committee and Target Olympic Podium Scheme (TOPS) recommended a proposal sent by wrestler Vinesh Phogat to buy post-surgery rehabilitation equipment. The panel, which is looking after the sport in the country, and TOPS also requested the Mission Olympic Cell (MOC) members to accord concurrence.

Vinesh, the face of the protest against Brij Bhushan Sharan Singh, sidelined president of the Wrestling Federation of India (WFI), submitted her proposal via email on September 1. The same was discussed in the last meeting of the MOC. The 29-year-old grappler was given a direct entry into the wrestling team for the Asian Games creating a lot of furore among other wrestlers. She, however, withdrew due to a knee injury. A couple of days after announcing her withdrawal, she underwent knee surgery on August 17. As per the proposal to the Sports Authority of India (SAI), the wrestler requested for a Game Ready Recovery System. It is a portable device complete with a carry bag, full-leg boots, and connector cables. It combines cold and compression therapies to facilitate expedited healing and pain management. Its cost is ₹4,58,640). She also requested a K-Pull Traction Dynamometer by Kinvent. It will cost ₹1,22,130. The total expenditure on the required equipment will be ₹5,80,770.

IPHONE 15 PRO-LINEUP-HERO

ALL ABOUT IPHONE 15 SERIES

LINEUP-COLOR-LINEUP-GEO

RAKESH KUMAR @ New Delhi

WHENEVER Apple launches its iPhone series, expect consumer frenzy as everyone wants to be the first to know the new features in the latest version of the coveted phone. The US tech giant's launch of iPhone 15 series—iPhone 15, iPhone 15 Plus, iPhone 15 Pro and iPhone 15 Pro Max—on Monday was no different.

Prices

The iPhone 15 and iPhone 15 Plus will be available in 128GB, 256GB, and 512GB storage capacities, starting at ₹79,900 and ₹89,900, respectively. The iPhone 15 Pro starts at ₹1,34,900 and is available in 128GB, 256GB, 512GB, and 1TB storage capacities. iPhone 15 Pro Max starts at ₹1,59,900 and is available in 256GB, 512GB, and 1TB storage capacities.

What's new?

Apple is known for its reluctance to make too many changes in its new devices. However, it broke that tradition this time by unleashing drastic changes in the iPhone 15 series. The foremost is that all the devices in the iPhone 15 series will have a USB-C port. This is the big move of the company. The reason for opting for USB-C is to comply with the European Union's upcoming regulation, which mandates a universal USB-C. The other major changes include incorporating Dynamic Island, which was part of pro devices in 14 series, in its base phones iPhone 15 and iPhone 15 Plus. The company also added a 48-megapixel camera in its base models, up from the 12-megapixel one found on the previous iPhone 14. The company also upgraded its chip to the A16, the same that was found in last year's iPhone 14 Pro models. Apple is also promising 'all-day battery life' with the iPhone 15, thanks to a larger battery. The iPhone 15 comes in 6.1 inches and five colours—black and shades of pastel pink, yellow, green, and blue.

What is in Pro?

The company hasn't included any major changes in its Pro series this time. It has introduced a new titanium frame in its Apple iPhone 15 Pro and Pro Max. This titanium frame makes the iPhone 15 pro models the lightest. Apple also upgraded its hardware to A17 Pro chipset. Apple said despite the performance enhancements and additional functions, the battery life remains the same. The company claims the Pro models can deliver video playback time of up to 29 hours. The camera sensors on the iPhone 15 Pro and iPhone 15 Pro Max have been upgraded as well. Both models use a 48MP primary lens but Apple claims the sensor is larger than the one used in Apple iPhone 15 and iPhone 15 Plus. The iPhone 15 Pro series comes in four colours: black, blue, white, and natural titanium.

When can you buy it?

These devices will be available for pre-booking from September 15 and the sale will start from September 22. Buyers can pre-book on the official website. Long queues are expected in Mumbai & Delhi stores.

QUANTUM COMPUTING

Quantum computing is a fundamentally different way to process information, compared to today's "classical" computer systems. All computing systems rely on a fundamental ability to store and manipulate information. Today's classical computers manipulate individual bits, which store information as binary 0 and 1 states. Millions of bits work together to process and display information – the speed everyone is familiar with on smartphones, laptops, and the servers in the cloud.

Alternatively, quantum computers tap into quantum mechanical phenomena to manipulate information. To do this, they rely on quantum bits, or qubits. Unlike a bit that has to be a 0 or a 1, a qubit can be a complicated mix of 1 and 0, which allows for exponentially larger compute spaces and gives quantum computers the potential to solve extremely complex problems of which even the most powerful classical supercomputers are not capable. For reference, the number of classical bits that would be necessary to represent a state on the 433-qubit IBM Osprey processor far exceeds the total number of atoms in the known universe.

XPLAINER

Quantum computers are not a replacement for classical ones. They complement our classical systems by possibly being able to solve some forms of intractable problems that become extremely large or time-consuming during computation. Quantum computing is expected to shed light on processes of molecular and chemical interactions, address difficult optimisation problems, and boost the power of artificial intelligence.

Are Indian organisations ready for deployment of Quantum computers?

IBM India has several members of the IBM Quantum Network. These organisations enjoy cloud-based access to cutting-edge IBM quantum systems, allowing them to harness the power of quantum computing for various applications. IBM says while it is yet to establish a physical quantum system in India, the cloud-based access provides organisations with the means to explore and leverage quantum capabilities seamlessly.

'Data Act is a big opportunity for storage companies'

UMA KANNAN @ Bengaluru

THE Digital Personal Data Protection (DPDP) Act is a big opportunity not only for us but also for storage companies and for everyone as we digitise the whole country, says Sandeep Bhambure, vice-president & MD, Veeam Software, India and SAARC. In an interaction with TNIE, he said organisations are going to take DPDP seriously, and enterprise companies are going to put the entire roadmap to comply with the DPDP Act.

He feels data protection is a business requirement. "If I'm losing my customer's information and it falls into the hands of bad actors, then that information can be a business benefit to your competition. Leaving the law aspect of it, just losing your customers' data itself, could be an existential crisis for many organisations, including the digital natives born in the cloud where they are entirely dependent on the cloud," he said.

Veeam Software, which is into data protection and Ransomware recovery, revealed in its Trends Report 2023 that 85% of global organisations suffered at least one cyber attack in the preceding 12 months. In another study, it said Indian customers are more impacted on average than the global ones as almost 90% of the customers mentioned that they got impacted.

Since employees are allowed to work from home or from anywhere, there are vulnerabilities. The company sees a rise in terms of the number of security breaches that are happening, and reports suggest that around $27 billion had been paid as ransom in 2022.

Veeam has over 4,50,000 clients, and in India, Bhambure said there are thousands of customers across the finance, manufacturing, and public sectors in the government space. Some of its top clients include Hero MotoCorp, and Future Generali.

In India, the company's strongest verticals are BFSI, manufacturing, ITSM (IT service management), and the public sector. Talking about emerging technologies, he said Gen AI tools are now available to both, the bad actors as well the defendants.

"Whether you are an attacker or whether the attackers in the external world are using Gen AI or not, when you know that your data is immutable against any of these threats, you will know that you can recover. Our focus is solely on making sure that data is 100% guaranteed recoverable, irrespective of the tools that could be used to further widen the gap," he added.

NEED FOR REGULATED AI

DIPAK MONDAL

ARTIFICIAL Intelligence would at some point of time get regulated by governments, but it requires governance norms developed consensually as opposed to hard government legislation, says Paul Burton, general manager, IBM Asia Pacific. Paul was responding to a media query on the role of the government in shaping ethical AI.

However, he stressed on the need for consensually developing norms that reaches to every practitioner of AI. "No matter how much it is regulated, it requires a behavioural change, it requires the development of norms that permeate the practitioners," Paul Burton said on the sidelines of IBM Think event, in which the company showcased its latest developments in the field of AI, hybrid cloud and quantum computing.

Burton said that he welcomes government regulations but those regulations should evolve in consultation with industries.

He said that a lot of thinking has already gone into regulating AI, and that the talks on governance norms are already in advanced stages. "There's a lot of thinking, there's a lot of material coming out in the press, in academia and from government think tanks on this," he said.

Speaking on the issue of ethical Artificial Intelligence, IBM India and South Asia Managing director Sandip Patel, said AI has to stand the test of time, if it wants to revolutionise and democratise technology, and bridge the digital divide.

Paul Burton (L), GM, IBM Asia Pacific, and Sandip Patel, managing director, IBM India and South Asia, in a press briefing in Mumbai recently

"AI has to be ethical, sensitive to data privacy and the rights of individuals, or else it could be dangerous, which we cannot afford as a society. It is down to our collective leadership to steer India into the AI era that benefits our consumers, clients and the society at large," said Patel.

What is ethical AI?

IBM India MD says that ethical AI is all about having a level of transparency in the foundational models that are being used or data that is being used, and these should be explainable.

According to Patel, the real test for ethical AI is its actual use for greater social goods. As AI becomes a more mature technology, we do need to have policy around it which enables AI for the greater good, he says.

Patel says AI will power a billion dreams and more, and will be foundational in bridging the digital divide not just in India but around the world. According to him, AI and Generative AI will get revolutionised and democratised with the technology reaching every corner of the country in accessible language and form. Patel says there has been a lot of experimentation around AI, and now it is time AI is infused into business processes and solutions so that they can be scalable.

French ban on iPhone 12 may snowball across Europe

Apple's three-year-old iPhone 12 has run into trouble, dampening the spirit of its latest iPhone 15 launch. France's radiation watchdog has concluded that the model's specific absorption rate (SAR) is higher than legally allowed and breached European exposure limits. Paris decided to ban the sale of iPhone 12, which has raised concerns of further bans across Europe. Germany's federal telecommunication regulator BNetzA said that the work in France could act as a guide for Europe as a whole and that it would examine issue. Belgium reached out to the regulators, to analyse potential danger of the product and review all Apple smartphones. The Dutch digital watchdog also said it was looking into the matter. Italy's industry ministry, however, said it was monitoring the situation but not taking any action for now.

AI leaders call for balanced regulation in US Senate

CEOs, and decision makers in the artificial intelligence (AI) companies urged for balanced regulations on the technology to support innovation and place guardrails. They were talking in a private US senate meeting on regulating emerging technology. Meta Chief Executive Mark Zuckerberg, OpenAI CEO Sam Altman, Microsoft's CEO Satya Nadella, Nvidia President Jensen Huang, Google's Sundar Pichai, and X head Elon Musk were among the invitees. This is believed to guide policy makers to place safety nets. Industry leaders were reportedly called for regulation without trampling the industry. Zuckerberg said there are two defining issues for AI—safety and access. "If you believe this generation of AI tools is a meaningful step forward, then it's important not to undervalue the potential upside." Contradicting from most AI bosses, Musk emphasised the need for a central authority to enforce AI safety. He called for a referee. The regulator would ensure that firms take actions that are safe and in the interest of public, he said.

Will Chinese EV dominance in the European market end?

The European Commission is considering tariffs against Chinese electric vehicle makers alleging dumping of state-subsidised vehicles. The European Commission launched an investigation into Chinese electric vehicle (EV) imports. The Commission accused the Chinese players of dumping cheap electric cars backed by government subsidies creating a burden to the local manufacturing. "Global markets are now flooded with cheaper electric cars," said European Commission President Ursula von der Leyen. "And their price is kept artificially low by huge state subsidies." EU import of EVs from China has risen to 8% and expected to reach 15% in two years, as per European Commission. Cars made in China are 20% cheaper than EU made vehicles. The EU also wants to reduce its reliance on China. The Chinese Chamber of Commerce to the EU objected to the investigation, saying that China's competitive advantage was not due to subsidies, and that the bloc should look at Chinese EVs objectively.
